Defense Fund Started to Aid Vice President

Agnew Filing Suit to Halt Federal Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's lawyer says he will file suit this week to stop the federal investigation of Agnew's alleged involvement in a Maryland kickback scheme because of the flood of news leaks about the case.

The apparent hardening of Agnew's strategy, including formation of a defense fund, came as attention re-focused on the Senate investigation of the Watergate scandal after a seven-week recess.

Agnew attorney Judah Best told UPI, "There have been an inordinate number of disclosures that would preclude the right to a fair trial."

He did not say exactly what the legal arguments would be, but indicate that the leaks violated Agnew's constitutional rights.

The Washington Post Sunday reported that the papers have already been drawn up but will probably not be filed before Wednesday.

Presidential advisor Melvin L. Laird said news stories that he had been the source of reports that Agnew was going to resign were "false."

Laird appeared on CBS, Face the Nation Sunday.

He refused to comment on last Thursday's meeting between Agnew and President Nixon, calling it "a serious matter, and one that should not be discussed by the White House staff."

Agnew supporters have contended that information damaging to the vice president has come from the White House.

Agnew spokesman J. Marsh Thomson said Sunday the formation of a defense fund to finance the case, announced by Agnew's office Saturday, "shows the kind of approach he's going to take."

He said stories that Agnew's lawyers were "plea bargaining" with the Justice Department—offering a guilty plea to a minor offense in exchange of Agnew's resignation—were not true, and that the defense fund is "an important indication of his attitude."

Agnew is under investigation for possible bribery, extortion and tax fraud in connection with a wide probe of kickbacks from engineering and architectural consultants in Maryland, where Agnew served as governor and as Baltimore County executive.

Meanwhile, Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N. Y., said Sunday that "wide speculation" about the possibility of Vice President Agnew's resignation makes his handling of his office very difficult.

In a television interview Buckley decried "trial by print" in what he called the "Ellsberg-Watergate syndrome."

Buckley said if someone in government violated a confidence jeopardizing national security, there should be a means of tracking down the source, adding that newsmen's phones could be tapped in such a situation.

He said if Agnew came to trial, publicity would not affect the outcome because of the high quality of the average juror in the United States.

He said President Nixon was "technically correct" in his refusal to surrender the Watergate tapes, but he should waive executive privilege to avoid a constitutional confrontation.

Buckley said if Nixon did not comply with a Supreme Court order to release the tapes, impeachment proceedings would probably be introduced, but that the success of the proceedings "would be something entirely different."

A poll released on Sunday indicates that there is considerable public support for Agnew to retain his office.

The Gallup poll taken for Newsweek magazine showed 66 per cent of those questioned felt Agnew should not resign.

But only 40 per cent of the 431 persons who participated in the poll thought President Nixon was being fair to Agnew. Thirty-five per cent said he was not being fair to the vice president and 25 per cent had no opinion.

Hunt First Probe Witness At the Watergate Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt said today he believed he was acting as a secret government agent when he participated in the bugging of Democratic headquarters and the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Testifying at the opening of a new round of hearings by the Senate Watergate Committee, Hunt said he felt "crushed by the failure of my government to protect me and my family, as in the past it has always done for clandestine agents."

Hunt read a prepared statement as the Senate Watergate committee resumed its televised hearings after a five-week recess. He said he was told by fellow Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy in November, 1971—three months after the Ellsberg break-in—that former Attorney General John N. Mitchell had proposed a large scale intelligence and counterintelligence program to be directed by Liddy.

"Mr. Liddy and I designed a budget for categories of activities to be carried out in this program which came to be known as Gemstone," Hunt said. Gemstone was the code name for a program to gather political intelligence which ultimately led to the Watergate break-in, he added.

Hunt said Gemstone carried the approval of Jeb Stuart Magruder, a former White House aide and Nixon's deputy campaign director; John W. Dean III, ousted presidential counsel, and Charles W. Colson, former special counsel to the President.

After his indictment for the House Speaker Carl Albert defends fellow Democrats against President Nixon's criticisms of Congress. Story on page 24.

"Accordingly I had no alternative but to concede I was equally wrong and so I pleaded guilty hoping for a merciful treatment by the court," Hunt told the Senate committee. He was sentenced provisionally on March 23 to a 30-year prison sentence.

Hunt said that he has asked the court to permit him to change his guilty plea because "based on revelations made public since my plea, evidence is now available to prove that my participation was not unlawful."

He said he thought participation in the Watergate operation was "a duty to my country. I thought it was an unwise operation, but I viewed it as lawful. I hope the court will sustain my view, but whatever the outcome, I deeply regret that I had any part in this affair."

"I think it was an unfortunate use of executive power and I'm sorry that I did not have the wisdom to withdraw. At the same time, I cannot escape feeling that the country I have served for my entire life and which directed me to carry out the Watergate entry is punishing me for doing the very things it trained and directed me to do."

The former CIA agent said Colson approached him about becoming a consultant to the executive office of the President, telling him the White House needed "the kind of intelligence background which he knew I possessed."

His employment also was approved by John D. Erlichman and H. R. Haldeman, the former top assistants to President Nixon, Hunt testified. Meanwhile, Martha Mitchell appeared on national television Sunday night and denied she is suffering from a mental condition. But she said she did throw out clothes belonging to her husband, the former Attorney General John Mitchell, in a fit of temper.

She said she threw the clothes out of their New York City apartment because she was angry she wasn't notified of the postponement in Mitchell's forthcoming bribery-perjury trial.

"I got mad, and like any woman does . . . if you get mad you do something," she said in an NBC television interview. "He's not here, you can't hit him on the head, so I've got to do something, so I took his clothes . . . a few ties and a few shirts and threw them out there in the foyer."

She said "of course" when asked if she wanted her husband, who left home last week, to come back. But she denied she and Mitchell were getting a divorce.

Asked why Mitchell hadn't contacted her, she replied, "Well, I guess he's mad at me for throwing his clothes out for one thing . . . and then I think that he just thinks that I'm overly wrought and that I should have some kind of care."

"I think they are terribly frightened I'm going to say something I don't know what I could say," Mrs. Mitchell said.

Tuesday Splashdown for Astronauts

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 2 astronauts stuffed the accumulated booty of two months of orbital research into the close quarters of their ferry spacecraft today and made final preparations for a Tuesday afternoon splashdown off the coast of California.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma also fiddled for the final time they hoed—with a space station systems problem prior to unhooking the Apollo ferry ship for the short trip home.

The three astronauts were expected to land at 6:20 p.m. EDT Tuesday in the Pacific Ocean 224 miles southwest of San Diego.

"Everybody's ready," Bean told ground controllers after the pilots awakened at 3 a.m. EDT for their next-to-last day in space. "Watch out today. We're going to get this thing all put to bed."

The crewmen were in cheerful moods and joked about their the small Apollo craft. It wasn't an easy job.

"I kind of liken this stowage business to if you are going on a six weeks vacation and you're going in a Volkswagen and you had to pack the whole family and had to do it by remote control," flight director Neil Hutchinson said Sunday.

Flight controllers apparently found the cause of a mysterious gurgling sound the astronauts heard coming from the outside of their eight-room space home.

The controllers turned off a pump for the cooling system of the spacecraft solar observatory and turned a backup system on.

Bean reported the strange pictures of the earth into gurgling then went away.

The Apollo command ship, the spacemen and the lab has lost half of its vital steering rockets, but officials were confident it would be able to bring the crew home safely.

Before the officials were convinced of the reliability of the ferry craft, they were ready to fly the first space rescue to bring the astronauts back to earth.

Included in the transfer of equipment are film, tapes and equipment from the space laboratory into the Apollo ferry ship and the shutting down of systems not needed during the nearly seven weeks the station will be unmanned.

At 3:50 p.m. EDT Tuesday, Sunday, drawing blood and taking readings from various medical monitors.

Dr. Jerry Hordinsky, one of the flight surgeons at mission control, reported that the three astronauts are in excellent physical shape.

And the astronauts' chief said he expected them to exorcise no more difficulty readjusting to earth's gravity after 28 days aboard the space station.

Meanwhile, scientists await the data from the medical, earth resources, solar astronomy and other experiments, the most extensive ever conducted physical data on themselves in space.

Bean, Garriott and Lousma gathered the final in-flight physical data on themselves in space.

'Best Jail in State' Dedicated

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Ulster County's $3 million jail at the Golden Hill Complex was dedicated Sunday with a host of federal, state and county legislators on hand to pay homage to the men who envisioned the maximum security and rehabilitation facility and to the men who carried out the assignment.

Throughout the ceremonies, the jail's future — and its possible use as a regional facility to serve many counties, was hinted. "It is the most modern and the best jail in New York State," County Legislator Clifford W. Snyder, chairman of the Sheriff's Committee, told the Freeman following the ceremonies attended by several hundred.

Snyder was the man of the hour as speaker after speaker spoke of his dedication to the building of the facility over the past six years.

Chairman of the Legislature Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8), whose February 1967 resolution set the wheels in motion for the building of the three-story jail adjacent to the Ulster County Infirmary, praised Snyder for having made the project "his life." Sheriff William B. Martin also cited Snyder's leadership and the work of his committee and guest speaker Albert Berkowitz, vice chairman of the State Department of Correction, gave special credit to Snyder, pointing to his many trips to Albany over the years to confer with correction officials.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., presented a flag that has flown over the Capitol which will be used at the jail. Fish, recently appointed to the new House sub-committee on crime, signaled the new jail as a symbol of responsible government which is endeavoring to maintain people in an atmosphere of security in their homes and everywhere.

A silver trowel was presented to Savago by Al Barone of Eugene Ossi Construction Company, the builders of the jail, and a copper box was installed at the jail which included many mementos.

Among them were resolutions pertaining to the re-location of the old jail facilities at the old Court House on Wall Street to Golden Hill and photos, clip pings, contracts and documents relating to the old and new penal plants.

The new jail can accommodate 184 inmates with facilities for 163 males and 21 females. It was designed by Albert and Robert Milliken architects who received much praise for the handsome structure.

Snyder said, "a lot of heartache, disappointments and discouragement went into the building." He praised Savago for his "foresight in planning for the facility and for his perseverance in bringing it to fruition."

Majority Leader Ernest J. Gardner (R-Dist. 11) said he feels that the new jail as well as the infirmary are just two of the facilities that provide better services for our county residents.

Savago praised the work of the Sheriff's Committee as well as the Building and Sites Committees. He called it "a job well done."

Members of the present Sheriff's Committee include, in addition to Snyder: Gardner, Legislator Melvin Mones (R-City), Louis Klein (D-Dist. 7), Lewis Hall (R-Dist. 2), Louis H. Bevier (R-Dist. 8), Larry Kitchart (D-City) and S. Robert Kelder (R-Dist. 2).

Open Youth Center In Dutchess County

POUGHKEEPSIE took place Friday afternoon. It is the second of a hoped-for three homes for youngsters 14 to 17 years of age.

According to Mrs. Ruth Ander of the Youth Board, the residents of these homes are youngsters who must be out of their homes for various reasons, largely difficulties of parents, and need a new home situation. She emphasized that the teenagers are not troublemakers or delinquents, and are not in trouble with the police, but are actually the recipients of problems not of their own making.

Seven girls have been residents of a similar home on Academy Street since early in 1973. The Hooker Avenue home is the first for boys in the program.

Mrs. Ander pointed out that the future third home may be a "temporary shelter" for youngsters who need a place to stay for a few days or longer. Or it may become another permanent home, depending upon the need at the time. "The state usually works in threes in this program," she added.

The large bulk of the Youth Department's work over the past three years in this vein was establishing the need for such facilities to the satisfaction of the state agencies.

The homes are completely paid for by the state, through the New York State Division for Youth, in conjunction with the Advisory Board for Urban Homes, which helps with programming. Director is Frank Woinaski, and each home has house parents in residence.

Residents may stay up to two years, and they either attend school or work, plus taking on a share of household chores for which they are responsible.

For the teenagers living in these homes, it is obviously preferable to life with father—and mother.

You have the option to renew — or transfer to a different term plan — when your account matures. This way, you don't have to worry about tying up your funds for a long period of time.

But if you know right now that you won't need at least $1,000 of your savings for an even longer time, consider the variety of high-yielding Heritage term accounts available to you:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days — 1 year	6%	5-3/4%
1 — 2 1/2 years	6.81%	6-1/2%
2 1/2 — 4 years	7.08%	6-3/4%

Federal law permits premature withdrawals on term accounts provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate (5-1/4%) and 90 days interest is forfeited.

Energy Crisis Lectures Set

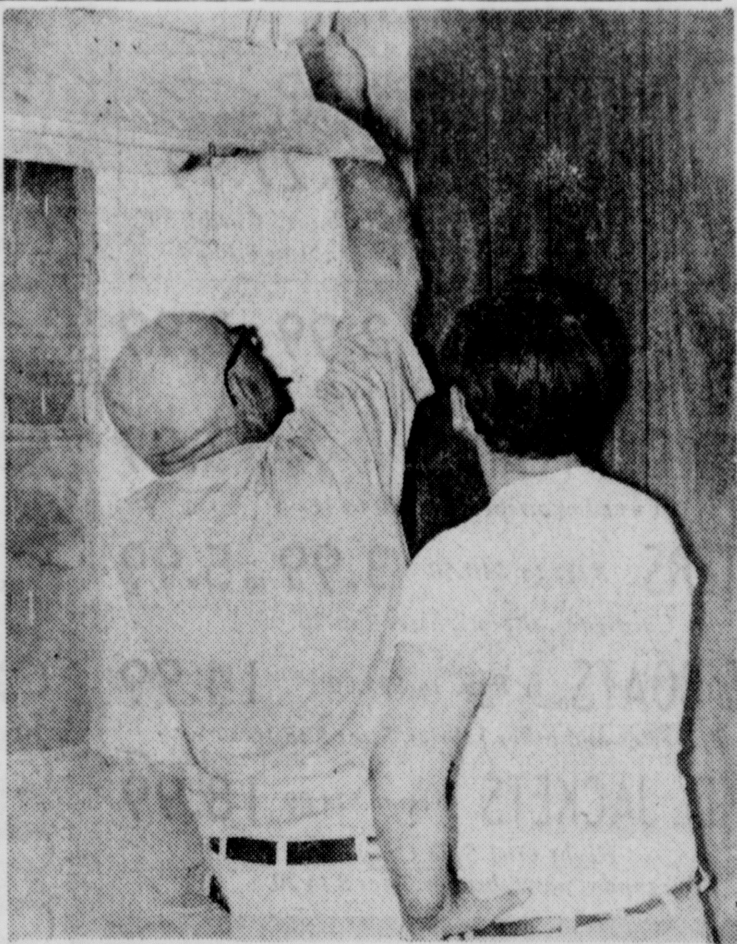

NEW PALTZ Energy Resource." Dr. Cherry, who is chairman of the United States section of the International Solar Energy Society, will review progress and assess the prospects for terrestrial use of energy from the sun. William C. Gough of the Atomic Energy Commission will speak Oct. 25 on "Fusion Research—A Program in Transition." Noted for his "fusion torch" concept, he will review the status of fusion research in the United States and explore its potential for non-electrical applications.

"Windpower and Ocean Thermal Power" will be the topic Nov. 1 of William E. Heronemus, professor of civil engineering at the University of Massachusetts. He is one of the best known specialists in the field of wind power, and his colleagues at Massachusetts are carrying on some of the most important research on utilizing temperature differentials in the oceans.

The speaker Nov. 8 will be G. Alex Mills, chief of energy research in the Division of Coal, U.S. Bureau of Mines. For his topic, "Synthetic Fuels From Coal," he will draw on his own experience on conversion of coal to gaseous and liquid fuels that create less air pollution as well as on his department's knowledge of current work in the field.

The series will conclude Nov. 15 with a lecture on "Energy Storage in Electric Power Systems" by Alexander Kusko, president of an engineering consulting firm in Needham, Mass., and a lecturer at MIT. Among other topics, he will discuss pumped air and water storage plants and the prospects for fuel cells.

On Oct. 18 William R. Cherry of the NASA Goddard Space Flight Center will discuss "Solar Energy as a National

ON-THE-JOBBERS — A trainee and a maintenance man are shown paneling the offices at Gateway's 27 Hoffman Street offices under the direction of the building's maintenance department.

Added Factor Aids Gateway Trainees

Evaluation, personal adjustment counseling, vocational training, and placement in competitive employment is the way of helping the handicapped at Gateway Industries, a member of the United Way of Ulster County. Vocational training in general maintenance and janitorial services at Gateway follows the same pattern, but with an added on-the-job experience factor, according to Theodore Van Dyke, supervisor. When a trainee completes the testing and evaluation procedures and the usual 12-week personal adjustment training period, he may select one of the service occupations as a realistic vocational goal. Van Dyke explained. He then enters a well-developed program of training in general maintenance and janitorial services.

Gateway has a fully equipped carpentry and plumbing shop, commercial cleaning machines, and practice procedures accompanied by proficiency and equality tests, and the trainee's progress is closely followed. He learns lawn care and maintenance, window cleaning, and other techniques of maintenance work.

Gateway further enriches training by offering janitorial service on a contract basis, such as the arrangement with Temple Emanuel on Albany Avenue. A crew of Gateway trainees under Van Dyke's supervision maintains lawns, classrooms, kitchen and auditorium.

Edward Levine, chairman of the House Committee at Temple Emanuel, said the Temple previously had a full-time custodian but "the Temple is simply too large for a single individual to handle. A crew working daily has been the answer for us."

Levine said the quality of work is excellent and that he was both impressed and pleased with the arrangement.

The Gateway department has approximately 25 trainees under the current program. Van Dyke said that the ultimate goal of all Gateway training is placement in competitive employment, and that 13 such placements have been made since January of this year.

NASA Begins Study Series on Women in Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has started studies aimed at eventually putting women into space. Announcement of the experiments, already underway in California, comes only weeks after a women's magazine, Ms., accused the space agency of sex discrimination in its selection of astronauts.

There never has been a female U.S. astronaut although the Soviet Union's Valentina Tereshkova spent 70 hours and 50 minutes in space in 1963. The California tests are the first ever conducted by NASA on the suitability of females in low gravitational forces of space. However, NASA officials have been saying for three years they hoped to put a woman aboard the space shuttle flights scheduled to start in 1978.

The five-week NASA studies, involving 12 Air Force flight nurses, have started last Monday at the Ames Research Center in Mountain View, Calif. Scientists hope to determine how well women withstand the low gravitational forces of re-entry and the tendency of the blood to pool in the legs. They also will study specific changes in the body induced by weightlessness. The studies will concentrate on biorhythms, body biochemistry, cardiovascular responses and changes in the endocrine gland. NASA says.

Data gained from the experiments will be compared with data from experiments on men.

NASA said eight of the 12 volunteers will be kept in bed for two weeks while four will be allowed to walk. At the end of the two weeks, the eight women will be subjected to gravitational forces from the four women who were allowed to walk. Shuttle enters the atmosphere at the end of the mission. Data from the eight test subjects will be compared to data from the four women who were astronauts, including famed Oklahoma aviator Jerrie Cobb, who had more flight time than any woman in the world. Ms. said in a recent issue that NASA had rejected several of the men eventually selected for moon missions.

GOP HEADQUARTERS OPENING — Ulster County Republican Committee campaign headquarters will open Tuesday in the Stuyvesant Hotel, corner John and Fair Streets in Kingston. Plans for the gala opening to be held from 7:30 to 9 p. m. are being made by (L) Albert Spada, county chairman and county clerk; Mrs. Mickey Duncan, headquarters coordinator; Burt A. Ellis, GOP candidate for alderman-at-large; Mrs. Irene Alexander, president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club and Roland A. Augustine Jr., campaign aide. (Powell photo)

A Horrifying Reminder

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Each month Helena Ehrenfried receives a $200 check from the West German government as compensation for the three years she spent in a Nazi concentration camp.

Bonn began paying restitution losses and other claims. East to Nazi victims in 1959. So far, Germany has made no restitution payments.

Mrs. Ehrenfried, 76, is one of 5,000 elderly war victims living in the Miami Beach area who receive reparation payments from Bonn. Most are Jewish and many say the horrors of World War II which led to the slaughter of six million Jews, haunt their daily lives.

The payments are Mrs. Ehrenfried's sole income. But the white-haired woman, whose concentration camp number 13,124 is tattooed above her left breast, said getting them can be a painful experience.

"I need the money, but the reminder is worse," she said. "Every month they remind you. There is no escape."

Mrs. Ehrenfried, a native of Poland, was beaten by an SS woman at Grossrosen Concentration Camp and disabled for life. Her entire family perished in the camps.

Harry Blatt, 62, receives $100 for his monthly health pension. He spent four years building roads and trenches for the Nazis on the Russian front. When the Red army liberated him in 1945, Blatt was crippled and weighed 70 pounds.

"The Germans don't pay for my hospital bills," he said. "They should pay for everything. They took away my home, they made me a slave, they killed my wife and children."

Dutchess Course Set

It is generally accepted that children learn a lot in play, and this line of reasoning will be explored in a credit-free workshop course beginning in northern Dutchess Oct. 4.

The course in children's play activities will be offered at the Dutchess Community College satellite center in the Rhinebeck High School and at the Northern Dutchess Day Care Center in Red Hook.

Entitled "Play — Children's Lifeline," the course is the first of two four-week series in "How to Know and Enjoy Your Preschool Child" presented under the sponsorship of the Continuing Education Office and the Nursery Education Program of the college.

It is designed to provide parents, teachers, students and others working with preschool children with techniques, ideas and information on how young children learn through play, what to do with preschoolers, where and how to take them on trips, and how to scrounge, buy, or make low-cost equipment.

Another section of the same course is being offered Tuesday evenings starting Oct. 2 at the college in Poughkeepsie.

The workshops will be followed by a course on "Selecting a Preschool Program" starting Nov. 1 at the college.

Coordinator of the workshops will be Mrs. Esther Kiviat, a consultant in early childhood education, who is a member of the board of directors of the Northern Dutchess Day Care Center and director of Jug Hill, a nature-oriented camp for young children in Clinton Hollow. She has been assistant professor in the Nursery Education program at the college and has worked in a variety of early childhood programs.

Authority Asked to Reconsider

POUGHKEEPSIE public interest would best be served by the Authority retaining the 11.25 acre parcel for future intersection improvement needs."

Loeks said this conclusion is based on a Pattern study which shows a projected population rise in the New Paltz area from 12,711 to 17,500 by 1985. With this increase will come a greater traffic burden on Route 299, the main artery for commercial development in the area.

According to C. David Loeks, president of Pattern, "The projected new shopping centers in this vicinity will tend to overload the traffic-carrying capacity of Route 299 and is bound to place an added strain on the interchange," said Loeks.

Pattern's evaluation of the proposed land sale was undertaken at the request of Village and Town of New Paltz officials.

In July the town board passed a resolution voicing opposition to overload the traffic-carrying parcel which the Thruway agency has labelled surplus. The property is slightly east of the Thruway and roughly semi-circular in shape.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 24, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — We have read the confidential reports of the two correspondents who doubled as political spies for the White House.

Seymour Freidin and Lucy Goldberg, using their news credentials to get off-the-record interviews, reported to the Nixon camp what the top Democrats were saying privately about one another and what the press corps knew but couldn't write.

The two were recruited by President Nixon's veteran political operator, Murray Chotiner, who paid them each $1,000 a week to spy on the Democrats. They were identified in the confidential reports only as "Chapman's Friend."

Early in 1971, Freidin reported to Chotiner that there had been a falling-out between Sens. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Ed Muskie, D-Me., the 1968 running mates. Freidin quoted Humphrey as telling him sadly: "I'm sorry about Ed. He even acts sometimes as if he never knew me."

Freidin also approached Humphrey's wife, Muriel, about the Muskie relationship. "Mrs. Humphrey was short and to the point," wrote Chapman's Friend. She said simply: "We don't ever see them except at some functions. There isn't much to talk about."

Humphrey's Minnesota colleague, Sen. Walter Mondale, gave Freidin this off-the-record report: "Hubert feels pretty sore at the way Muskie has behaved towards him. There hasn't been any rapport between the two I know of lately. Muskie, I'm sure, believes that Hubert is undercutting him. I don't think that's true. Muskie is killing himself off. But he sees ghosts all over, trying to do him in."

Later in the year, Humphrey spoke to Freidin again about Muskie. "You'd think that I was a member of the Nixon staff the way Ed avoids me..." grumped Humphrey. "He seems to be getting touchier and more thin-skinned as time goes by."

Freidin's reports began on March 23, 1971. He was replaced on September 6, 1972.

by Goldberg who continued the reports until election day. Chotiner distributed copies to H. R. Haldeman, then the White House chief of staff, and to John Mitchell, then the attorney general. After Mitchell abruptly left Washington in the wake of the Watergate break-in, his copy went to campaign manager Clark MacGregor.

Freidin frequently made the rounds of Democratic presidential contenders and reported back to Chotiner their off-the-record cracks about one another.

He reported, for example, that Humphrey told him during "a 20-minute personal talk" that Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., was "playing in a civics class with theory..." His welfare proposals are a school boy's dreams.

In turn, McGovern complained to Freidin that Humphrey "is being very rough..." It will not do him any credit and only leave him more embittered than he is.

Ex-Senator Fred Harris, D-Okla., who then had presidential ambitions, "almost frothed at the mouth," reported Freidin, at the mention of Humphrey and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash. Harris called Humphrey "old scar tissue" and Jackson "the candidate from Mars."

'BAREFOOT BOY'

Another ex-senator with presidential ambitions, Eugene McCarthy, bad-mouthed everyone during his private talks with Freidin.

Referring to Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., McCarthy called him "the barefoot boy with brass and an intellect of the same metal."

McCarthy spoke of New York City's Mayor John Lindsay as a "perpetual laughing boy who had the brains bred out of him."

Senator Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, was more amused than angry, reported Chapman's Friend, at his fellow presidential contenders. In a reference to McGovern and Muskie, Hughes said: "George and Ed now go around with the weight of the world on their shoulders. You can't even kid them. They really get up-tight if you needle them even a little bit."

Larry O'Brien, then the Democratic national chairman, called the presidential contenders together to stop the backbiting and to seek unity. Afterward, Freidin gave Chotiner a detailed report of their closed-door session.

'NO CHANCE'

Wrote Chapman's Friend: "McGovern said that he had his own positions and posture, that some candidates weren't as clear as he. Thus, contended McGovern, he didn't see any possibility of fusion or kind of coalescence of tactics..."

"Hughes chimed in to say that this was a small meeting among Democrats, that McGovern wasn't addressing one of his audiences..." Humphrey remarked that he thought McGovern was placing too great stress on the influence and importance of the young and new voters in the 1972 campaign and election.

"McGovern flared up briefly: 'Because you cannot communicate or understand what these young people want and are up to, doesn't mean they should be put beyond the political pale.'"

"Humphrey, in good humor, replied: 'George, I believe I understand the feelings and yearnings of lots of young ones. I don't believe they are a single bloc, that they all support one issue or another.' McGovern just shrugged..."

"An agreement O'Brien extracted was that they should all meet together more often."

FOOTNOTE: Freidin submitted detailed reports on secret Democratic strategy sessions and Goldberg picked up a few tidbits of political gossip. But in large part, their reports contained routine political information that could have been gleaned from the newspapers.

Inside Report

Cap's Soviet Blooper

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An unwelcome incursion into foreign policy by Caspar W. (Cap) Weinberger, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), ended up astounding White House and State Department officials and infuriating conservative Republicans in Congress.

Weinberger returned from a 16-day tour of health facilities in the Soviet Union and Poland just as Dr. Philip Handler, president of the National Academy of Sciences, was warning the Soviet Academy about harassment of physicist Andrei Sakharov. Government persecution. Handler warned might lead American scientists to boycott joint U.S.-Soviet projects.

At a press conference the day after Handler's statement, Weinberger attacked — not the Russians but Handler, without checking either the White House or the State Department. "It is better to have dialogue than simply standing off firing bricks through the daily press," the outspoken HEW chief said.

White House telephones started jangling angrily with complaints from Republican conservatives that the administration was condoning Soviet repression. White House and State Department officials were amazed by Weinberger. The Nixon administration line is to encourage U.S.-Soviet scientific cooperation but —officially ignore criticism of Soviet repression that Handler and other private U.S. citizens are making rather than attack it as Weinberger did.

Nevertheless, both Republican and Democratic critics of President Nixon's détente believe Weinberger's bloopers, while deviating from the administration line, underscored the administration's policy: tolerate anything inside Soviet borders in return for friendly U.S.-Soviet relations.

"Secretary Weinberger's statement is an example of just how low this administration will sink to produce a deal at any price with Moscow," Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the leading Democratic critic of détente, told us.

THE PERCY PHENOMENON
Our scouting trips interviewing rank-and-file voters continue to show Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, whose chances for the Republican presidential nomination are regarded as close to zero by party regulars, running better than anybody else against Democratic Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

In two middle-class precincts of the San Fernando Valley in Los Angeles which President Nixon carried by over 60 per cent in 1972, there was not only anti-Nixon disaffection but an inclination to vote Democratic for President next time.

Only Percy, lesser known than the other three Republicans, ran better than Kennedy. Percy, 42; Kennedy, 36; undecided, 15.

This parallels results we obtained in a scouting trip six weeks ago in Jersey City, N.J. Apparently, hard-shell Republican voters are so anti-Kennedy they prefer any Republican — even liberal Chuck Percy. On the other hand, liberal Democrats with misgivings about Kennedy because of Chappaquiddick could never bring themselves to back Agnew, Connally or Reagan but find Percy entirely acceptable.

MANKIEWICZ OUT WEST
Frank Mankiewicz, a senior lieutenant in Sen. George S. McGovern's presidential campaign, may end up working for the fastest anti-McGovern tongue in the West: Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco.

Alioto, running 20 per cent points behind California secretary of state Edmund G. Brown, Jr., for the 1974 Democratic gubernatorial nomination, wants Mankiewicz for a top staff job in his campaign. Surprisingly, Mankiewicz is expressing interest — once he finishes a book on Watergate — even though Alioto led the assault on McGovern in the 1972 California presidential primary. If Mankiewicz says yes, he will join Alioto in November.

ADLAI VS. WHO
Don Adams, 37-year-old owner of a Springfield pancake house who has just become the Illinois Republican state chairman, began his new role with a faux pas in Washington last week at a meeting of the state's Republican delegation in Congress.

The strongest Republican against Democratic Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III next year, Adams told the Congressmen, would be State Atty. Gen. William Scott and every effort should be made to recruit him. Adams ignored the fact that the other leading possibility to challenge Stevenson, Rep. John Anderson, was seated in the delegation meeting. He did not even acknowledge Anderson's presence.

By way of protest, Anderson stalked from the meeting before it was finished. Although some Congressmen present agreed that Scott would be a strong candidate, they felt Adams had blundered — particularly since Anderson is considered much more likely than Scott to challenge the powerful Stevenson.

When the Holland Tunnel was built, you can bet he had the best contractors money could buy. He also built the biggest medical center that ever went bankrupt. Roads, schools, prisons, precincts, the Pulaski Skyway — everything including the hauling of garbage was carefully supervised by Frank Hague — in the public interest, of course.

He was an inveterate funeral goer. One winter there was a blizzard. Hague and the ward leaders marched bareheaded beside the hearse. A pallbearer got pneumonia and died. Another funeral. A second leader died. At the third one, John Prout whispered to Hague: "Boss one more funeral and we got no organization." That ended the mourning.

Too bad he departed without leaving a political handbook. We'd have been obliged blind, but we wouldn't know it. And that, my friend, is the difference...

Frank Hague was the best.

Pressure for Death Sentence

Prodded by public opinion favoring capital punishment, 19 states have new death penalty laws and many other states are considering them. At least 16 inmates are on "death row" in United States prisons, and the question is: Will the condemned be executed? Or has public opinion changed the feeling that rapists and murderers will not be executed any more?

David Kendall of the Legal and Educational Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which is leading the anti-execution battle, predicts "There will be no more executions in this country." He bases it on the belief that what people say in polls does not stand up in what they do when on juries.

No one has been executed in the United States since June 1967. Deaths by law reached a high of 199 in 1935 and declined to one in 1966 and two in 1967. Meantime, legal appeals were holding back executions pending the ruling by the Supreme Court over a year ago, virtually abolishing capital punishment. Finally, legislatures drew up guidelines mandating the death penalty for specific crimes.

Since the Supreme Court decision, major crimes have not been deterred. Murder and rape increased. The pressure for restoring capital punishment has as one object the belief that it does deter violent crime. If the trend continues, and more states mandate the death penalty, then the Supreme Court will be asked to determine the Constitutional question, whether execution is "cruel and unusual" per se and should be abolished without question on all counts.

Both NAACP and the American Civil Liberties Union take the position that the death penalty must be abolished entirely. States that have put capital punishment back on the books for certain mandated crimes include Florida, which led the procession; Arkansas, Arizona, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah and Wyoming.

More Aid for Viet Vets

World War II veterans had a broad spectrum of government aid for their college educations, with free tuitions, housing and book allowances, etc. They took advantage of it in droves, swelling the enrollments of universities, colleges and trade schools and giving this country an excellent quotient of men and women with well-oiled, expertly functioning brains, for positions where such are required.

The Vietnam veterans, familiar with the help given previous vets, are understandably unhappy and frustrated that they only receive $220 a month to further their education. Tuitions have soared, living is two to three times higher; books, laboratory supplies, etc., have jumped in cost.

The married veteran, as a large percentage are, doesn't have much of a chance to make use of the little help he gets. He would have to work all night to support his family, with small time to study, so the program has been declined by more than half of the 6.2 million veterans of the Vietnam era.

The National League of Cities and the United States Conference of Mayors have just presented a report to the House Veterans Affairs Committee, recommending the bringing of present G.I. educational benefits up to post-World War II levels, and that the G.I. bill should be expanded to pay 80 per cent of veterans' tuitions and fees, along with other benefits. They also want benefits better publicized; and work-study public employment programs to guarantee a job to every G.I. enrollee.

Certainly some way must be found to get a high percentage of Vietnam veterans involved in higher education.

parks. They include a night club singer, a lawyer's wife, several lawyers, business executives and the president of Madison Square Garden. The unpaid volunteers are a new shield against crime in the parks.

"It's the newest craze! What will our friends say when they find out you don't want to play backgammon?"

The Difference Is Frank Hague

It's a pity that Frank Hague did not leave a handbook called "How to Steal Without Being Caught." There were political thieves before Hague—Tweed, Curry, Foley, Prendergast, Crump Curley, etc.—but, as Time magazine once reported: "Tammany leaders are taking the ferry to Jersey City to learn how to do it."

Mr. Hague was a tall red-head addicted to gray fedoras with the brim up, and high starched collars which he believed would ward off cancer of the throat. The greatest tribute one could pay him is to state that he ran a city of 325,000 right into the ground and, if someone could resurrect him now, he'd be reelected.

The mayor was righteous, religious and monarchical. He was not only the last word; he was also the first. He began public life as custodian of city hall. As janitor, he would not exchange opinions on the state of the weather without inclining his ear and speaking confidentially. His hands were clasped before him in an attitude of perpetual prayer.

My father was Hague's eyes and ears in police headquarters at Paulus Hook. The mayor ran his career on a few simple assumptions: (1). Everybody needs a favor sooner or later; (2). To prevent citizens from making a mistake and voting Republican, print all ballots on onion skin paper and have them marked with a hard pencil. Voting commissioners took the ballot, and ran it between thumb and index finger as it went into the ballot box. They knew the sinners from the saints.

"Haguey" kept lists of the few who voted against him. Their home taxes jumped; their kids couldn't find employment; fire and health department inspectors were chagrined to find that Republicans were prone to horrifying violations of the codes.

In 1917, Hague took over Jersey City and, shortly afterward, Hudson County. His salary was $8,000 a year and he disdained all motions to grant him a raise. In a short time he was in a classy duplex apartment at Duncan Avenue and the Boulevard—with servants. He had a permanent suite at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. There was a uniformed chauffeur. He bought a beautiful estate on a Miami Island.

How? Rule One is never put anything in writing. The second one is never to ask anyone for anything. The word was passed to all employees that they would be expected to pay three per cent of their annual salaries to the "Democratic Campaign Fund." If the party was not maintained in power, they might lose their jobs.

The Bishops lived close to the vest. My old man never had it. The sum came to $111 in his case. Big John thanked God for Hague's thoughtfulness in establishing an illegal loan office over the Majestic Theatre, across the street from City Hall. Hague owned the loan company, and he permitted Dad to borrow the $111 at four per cent interest.

The mayor didn't have to spend a dime of these millions on campaigns. He could be reelected with his money in his mouth. He had a flat-footed dumpy deputy named Johnny Malone. Problems and contributions went through Malone. Worthy favors were passed on to the mayor.

Was a son facing trial for burglary? Did grandma need an operation for those gallstones? Did someone miss a headstone in Holy Name Cemetery for the voting list? A whispered word from the mayor solved all problems. For years, Jersey City was the only place which had nothing but Cadillacs as a mob's headquarters and ranking police and fire department cars.

Pablo Neruda Dies, Was Nobel Winner

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Pablo Neruda, a poet and a Communist who in 1971 won Chile's second Nobel Prize for Literature, has died of cancer at 69.

Neruda resigned last November as President Salvador Allende's ambassador to France because of illness and in July was operated on for cancer of the prostate. He was hospitalized again five days ago.

His wife and his sister were at his bedside when he died Sunday night.

Neruda was one of the most influential literary figures in the Spanish language. He was also an active member of the Chilean Communist party for a quarter of a century and a personal friend of Allende.

There was speculation that the military junta which overthrew Allende on Sept. 11 would sanction only a private funeral for the poet because a state of emergency is still in force. After Allende's overthrow and death, there were rumors that Neruda had been arrested. But the junta denied them and said it respected his literary achievements even though he was a member of the Communist party.

His most notable works included the gently erotic "Twenty Poems of Love and One Desperate Song," "Residence on Earth," "Spain in My Heart" and "Canto General," published in 1950 and quickly accepted as the leading epic of Latin American man. Politics did not figure greatly in Neruda's early poems, but in later years he utilized his literary prestige throughout the world to advance his political views. He readily acknowledged himself as a politically militant poet.

His writings often were highly critical of U.S. policy. "The United States will remain a threat to Latin America as long as its foreign policy is tied to its industrial interests," he told an interviewer in 1969.

He often aimed his pen at American business interests in Latin America. In his poem "La United Fruit Co.," he wrote that "Jehova parceled out the earth to Coca Cola Inc., Anaconda, Ford Motors and other entities" leaving "the most succulent central coast" to the fruit companies.

He drew thousands at rallies throughout Chile during congressional elections and was thought to be a key influence in bringing Allende's Marxist government into power.

Chile's first Nobel winner was also a poet, the late Gabriela Mistral, who won the prize for literature in 1945.

'Still a Candidate'... Stedje

TOWN OF ULSTER Robert Stedje announced today he will "definitely be a candidate for supervisor of the Town of Ulster as an Independent candidate." He expressed hope that the voters regardless of their political affiliations would support him in his desire to reverse the trend and bring the town back to fiscal responsibility, accountability, and service to the people.

Commenting on the recent unanimous decision of the Appellate Division which affirmed an earlier Supreme Court decision ordering the Ulster County Election Board to place his name on the ballot, Stedje said that his attorneys, Guido Napotano and Peter Graham, had made a clear-cut case which had left little doubt as to the ultimate decision and in his opinion the case was not appealed on its merits, but rather to try to lend some credence to a political maneuver and to harass his candidacy. "The quick unanimous decision of the Appellate Court supports that view," said Stedje.

Meanwhile Douglas V. Dye, Independent candidate for the County Legislature in the new Dist. 2 (Town of Kingston and Town of Ulster), who with Stedje was also victorious in fighting the appeal, has written to Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) asking how much money was spent by the county to appeal the Supreme Court decision?

Copies of the letter were also sent to Lewis Hall (R-Dist. 2), chairman of the Board of Elections Committee and James F. Palen (R-Dist. 9), chairman of the Judicial and Legal Committee.

Dye charges illegal use of taxpayer's money and claims an "outside attorney" was hired in appeal the case in the Appellate Division.

"I would like to know who authorized the hiring of an outside attorney?" Dye said.

The Town of Kingston legislator recommends that a report of the costs to the county for the appeal be filed with the Finance Committee immediately and that a non-partisan committee be appointed to determine the competence of the present election commissioners and if they should be removed from office.

Ambulance Driver Hurt

RHINEBECK A Rhinecliff Rescue Squad driver sustained severe head and internal injuries Sunday morning when the ambulance he was driving was involved in a three-car accident on River Road in the Town of Rhinebeck.

Fifty-year-old Gordon Coddling was reported in fair condition today at Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck. The accident occurred at about 7:15 a. m. Sunday.

Rhinebeck state police said Coddling was driving the ambulance on River Road in response to an emergency call. Following the ambulance in a private car was his son, 19-year-old William F. Coddling.

Traveling in the opposite direction was a car driven by 16-year-old Eugene J. Berardi Jr. of Noone Lane, Kingston. Police said Berardi pulled his car onto the shoulder of the road to yield to the emergency vehicle, but that the auto went out of control, swerved back onto the road, and collided with first the ambulance and then the car driven by the Coddling youth.

Both Berardi and William Coddling sustained minor injuries and did not require hospitalization.

Police Add Frosting to Bakery Caper

TOWN OF ULSTER

A pre-dawn raid on a stack of dairy products and bakery goods netted three youths several dozen hardrolls, several cases of milk, some loaves of bread and a few cakes early today . . . along with at least a day in jail.

Hurley state police said the alleged larceny occurred early today outside the Shop-Rite supermarket on Ulster Avenue. Police said it is a common practice for early morning deliverymen to leave bakery goods and dairy products outside the supermarket until store personnel arrive.

The three youths apparently got there first. Police accuse the three of loading the foodstuffs into their car and driving off. But there was a catch to their plan. Troopers A. J. Scarselli and P. W. Sheehan were on patrol in the area and allegedly witnessed the reported theft.

Arrested were George Brown, 20, of Eddyville; Bruce W. Spelino, 16, of West Park and Joseph Manello, 18, of Lake Katrine. They were charged with petit larceny, arraigned before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood E. Davis and committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of bail for a hearing Tuesday night.

Building Entry

Burglars entered the Ertel Engineering building at 8:14 North Front Street sometime between Saturday afternoon and this morning, tried unsuccessfully to crack an office safe, and then left without further incident. Detectives of the Kingston Police Department, who noted that entry was gained through a rear window, said that nothing was reported stolen.

(Carol Ann Eckert)

OLIVE NURSERY SCHOOL — This past summer, a group of concerned parents in the Town of Olive decided there was a need for a nursery school in that area. They were interested in the formation of a nursery school based on a non-profit cooperative structure. To date, plans have been outlined for the nursery school to meet in the Legion Hall Building on Mountain Road, Shokan, Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. A certified teacher will be employed, with the cooperating parents assisting on a rotating basis. Tuition will be charged to cover operating expenses only. Those interested in enrolling their children may contact any of the members of the organizing committee (L-R) Theresa Gribbons, Elaine Seldon, Lois Plawsky, and Sally Cohen. Living Will Foe Takes Abby to Task

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

This letter from a Fort Myers reader illustrates my point more graphically:

DEAR ABBY: My husband was in and out of hospitals for 12 years. The last 10 months I was at his bedside every day from 10 a.m. until midnight.

I watched him being kept alive with blood transfusions, needles, tubes and drugs, while he prayed for God to take him. He couldn't swallow. I gave him water with an eye dropper.

This handsome, husky 200-pound man became an 88-pound vegetable when God finally took him home.

May the day come soon when everyone will be able to die with dignity. Don't let people tell you that you have no right to interfere with God's decision by suggesting that they sign a Living Will. It's those folks who permit tubes and needles and machines to prolong life artificially when death is inevitable who are interfering with God's will.

I will take the word of my clergyman, doctors, lawyer and the selected members of my own family when they agree that my life has run its course.

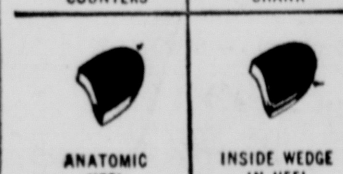

I am not afraid to die, but I never want to put my loved ones thru what I went thru with my husband. Keep up the good work, Abby. And God bless you.

MRS. W.J.A.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

DEAR 64: The Living Will is simply a document instructing my OWN clergyman, physician, lawyer, and selected members of my family (or even a few trusted friends) to allow me to die when they all agree that there is no hope for my recovery (physical or mental). I am not saying that YOU, or anyone else should express this wish. I am saying that this wish is MINE, and I would hope that those who love me would respect my wishes. This doesn't suggest that I be "killed." It simply means that I do not want my life to be prolonged by artificial means when my physicians agree that all hope for life is gone, or should I lose my sense of reason.

Chrysler Auto Workers Return to Assembly Line

DETROIT (UPI) — The assembly lines at Chrysler Corp. began to roll again today as the shortest national strike in the history of the United Auto Workers came to an end.

The nine-day strike against the smallest of the "Big Three" automakers officially ended Sunday when the UAW announced that its rank-and-file membership overwhelmingly approved a new three-year contract.

With 38 out of 42 Chrysler production and maintenance locals counted, the vote was 103,907 in favor of the new pact and 16,260 opposed.

The new contract, which the UAW hopes will set the pattern for negotiations with Ford and General Motors, limits mandatory overtime and offers a company-paid dental plan beginning in the second year. It also provides for full retirement benefits after 30 years on the job and salary boosts of five per cent in the first year and three per cent in the second and third years.

Although most of the UAW's 127,500 Chrysler workers returned to work today, both Chrysler and the union said it will be a day or two before all 85 Chrysler plants in the U. S. and Canada are rolling at full capacity. They cited time delays in formally notifying locals of the end of the strike.

In a joint statement, UAW President Leonard Woodcock and vice president Douglas Fraser said:

"The Chrysler workers' heavy vote for ratification shows their overwhelming acceptance of the breakthrough gains in this contract's economic area and the substantial improvement in working conditions that the union won for them."

The UAW's 10,000 white collar workers vote on ratification today and Tuesday, with endorsement a certainty.

Negotiators for the UAW begin contract talks with Ford today.

Nixon Considering Contingency Plan

PRESIDENT NIXON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has on his desk a contingency plan for mandatory allocation of fuels and may have to put it into effect, says White House domestic counsel Melvin R. Laird.

"I personally feel that it may be necessary to go forward with a program in this area, and we may not be able to wait for action by the Congress," Laird said in a Sunday television interview (CBS "Face the Nation").

Laird did not spell out the scope of the plan, but the administration is known to have developed a contingency plan for allocation of supplies of crude oil, petroleum products including gasoline and fuels such as propane and butane.

While Laird did not mention any such drastic measures, the basic contingency plan being developed was known to have several possible stages, leading up to ultimate consumer rationing of gasoline similar to that in World War II.

The administration has already announced a plan for mandatory allocation of propane fuel to assure that industry does not use up scarce supplies, leaving too little for the farmers, who use propane to develop dry crops, and rural homeowners, who use it for heating.

A bill for mandatory allocation has passed the Senate but not the House, Laird said. If Congress does not act in time, "it probably will be necessary for the executive branch of this government to do it on its own." He did not specify any time period.

Indians Going to Court

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (UPI) — has he ever been authorized to speak for the majority of the members.

Herron, currently a member of the Seneca Council on the Allegany Reservation here, said the sovereignty statement was backed by a group of dissidents who wanted to revert "back to what we refer to as the chieftain form of government."

He said the Senecas' present form of government, which allows the people to recall an elected officer every two years, was "a good form of government. The system of chiefs, as it existed years ago, was bad."

Herron said he didn't understand how the dissident group could disengage the nation from federal and state jurisdiction.

"The law is quite clear on this," Herron said. "It was determined a long time ago that the federal government can exercise the right of eminent domain over all of this land and tribes."

George Herron, president of the Senecas' from 1958-60 and 1962-64, said the Seneca Nation will ask a county judge for Quinn's removal. "If he is caught back on either reservation, and arrested, he is subject to imprisonment," Herron said.

The Seneca Indian Council voted Friday to bar Quinn from the Cattaraugus and Allegany reservations.

On Wednesday, Quinn, a Sioux from South Dakota, declared the reservation independent of federal and state governments.

The council, the elected governing body of the Senecas on the reservation, passed a resolution denouncing Quinn's actions and stating that Quinn was "not a member of the Seneca Nation of Indians, nor

Plea From Hughes Against Alcoholism

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI) — Speaking with a special insight gained as a recovered alcoholic, Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, issued a strong plea over the weekend to the state's business community to support programs for the alcoholic and problem drinker.

Hughes, the chairman of a Senate subcommittee dealing with alcoholism, cited grim statistics to back up his message Saturday at the closing session of the three-day 50th annual Associated Industries of New York State convention.

Hughes, who recently announced he would not seek reelection next year because he was going to pursue a religious calling, told the meeting that programs to combat alcoholism were in the best interest of business.

He noted there were an estimated 9,000,000 alcoholics in the nation; that 30,000,000 American were directly affected through family association; that the direct financial loss was $15 billion a year, and that 25,000 persons were killed each year in traffic accidents in which drinking was a factor.

He told the state's top business executives that they stood to profit directly from programs designed to help prevent or check alcoholism because one of 13 persons in industry — at all levels — was an alcoholic; that their absenteeism rate was 16 times the non-problem drinker, and their sickness incidence was three times higher.

Energetic and well-conceived programs, he said, could result in a recovery rate of up to 70 per cent, and side-savings and lessened social problems would return $10 for every $1 spent.

Hughes attacked President Nixon's administration for "dis-mantling" federal anti-alcoholism programs by withholding funds — and said it represented, in one area, the basic battle between Congress and the President over the budget.

The Iowa Democrat said there was no dispute over the $269 billion spending limit — just over how it should be spent. The Congress, he said, favored funds for domestic programs and the administration was seeking money for military spending.

Kissinger Speaks To United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger prepared a speech to the U. N. General Assembly today that was heavy on philosophy and light on specific major issues.

Instead of outlining proposals for solving the Arab-Israeli conflict or dealing with the problems of the world oil supply, Kissinger wrote a speech dealing with the need for continuity in world relations, U.S. officials said.

These sources, said the new secretary of state expressed American determination to go beyond the improvement of big power relations to establish a true international community committed to peaceful pursuits.

Officials high in the secretary's party said Kissinger felt it would be phony to pretend he had saved up some new spectacular announcement for his U.N. speech.

Rather, they said the purpose of his appearance — his first since becoming secretary last Saturday — was to make a general statement and enlist the aid and inspiration of the United Nations in an effort to achieve a lasting peace.

Kissinger's draft speech stressed that this effort must be more than an interlude between periodic renewals of the Cold War.

The sources said the speech stated that the main goal of U. S. policy is to transcend the Cold War atmosphere, not merely to make that atmosphere more bearable.

Kissinger's speech appeared to be a move by the Nixon administration to impress the delegates that it views the United Nations as a useful tool in international diplomacy.

His draft mentioned the world organization's vital role in future efforts to solve the world's food and poverty problems and its importance in science and technology.

He also mentioned the need for the international community to deal with more general problems of economics.

As if to underline an attempt to make the smaller U.N. members feel more important, Kissinger's draft gave credit to nations other than the big powers for reducing conflicts.

This was aimed particularly at East and West Germany, the two Koreas and India and Pakistan.

American officials said Kissinger will deal more specifically with pressing problems in a series of meetings this week and next.

Authorities Still Seeking Two Dutchess Escapees

POUGHKEEPSIE from the Court House and was then turned around and raced Madarish, was charged with reckless endangerment. But Two escapees from the Dutchess County Jail—one of them a convicted murderer—remain at large today, although police are now sure that at least one of the men is hiding in New York City.

Since Friday, when five prisoners overpowered their guards and bolted from the Dutchess County Courthouse in Poughkeepsie, police have been thwarted by the two more elusive fugitives. The two men still at large are identified as Paul Williamson Jr., 30, and Bruce Proctor.

Police believe that Proctor is still somewhere in Dutchess County, but manhunt, stake-outs and roadblocks throughout the weekend failed to produce any trace of the 23-year-old robbery suspect.

Williamson, according to police, is now in New York City. Police said the six-foot-three Black Muslim leader commanded a car about an hour after the Friday morning escape, took the occupants of the car hostage, and ordered them to drive him to New York about 3:30 a. m. Sunday morning. Police said Williamson seized the car about a block way near the Proctor home, and

The names of the hostages have not been released. A spokesman for the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department said today, "They were so nervous they didn't report the incident until they drove all the way back to Poughkeepsie." Police said the hostages were released unharmed.

Williamson is believed armed with a pistol he stole from one of the guards in the Court House. He was convicted of the murder of a Peekskill taxi driver in February, and sentenced to 25 years to life in prison. He also has been convicted of armed robbery.

Both Williamson and Proctor, said police, should be considered dangerous.

There was a development in the police manhunt for Proctor; it led to the arrest of a neighbor, but didn't reveal anything concerning the whereabouts of the fugitive.

Sheriff's deputies had staked out Proctor's home in Pleasant Valley during the weekend. At 3:30 a. m. Sunday morning, a car pulled into a driveway, a car pulled into a driveway, and a car pulled into a driveway.

Newburgh Teachers...No Agreement

NEWBURGH were optimistic that Sunday's negotiating teams met negotiating session would throughout the night. There was some movement no resolution. Both sides are towards conciliation. Those still far apart. The strike is continuing, but the schools remain open.

School officials still maintain that classes, with few minor exceptions, are operating as superintendent of the Newburgh school district, said today, "The the NTA claims just the opposite, and union president John Wolner has asked state education commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist to close the schools because of undisclosed disturbances in the secondary schools.

Officials reported today that attendance in the 13,000-student district is still below normal, but that more striking teachers are "trickling back" to their classes. But the NTA contends that the number of striking teachers has increased.

More than 100 substitute teachers, administrative personnel and 300-400 non-striking union members are conducting classes in the Newburgh district.

Meanwhile, a tentative agreement was reached early today between the Poughkeepsie Teachers Association and the Board of Education. Poughkeepsie teachers have been working without a contract since schools opened last week, but were scheduled to take a strike vote today. A ratification vote is set for Tuesday.

Girl 13, Rescued From Ledge

RHINECLIFF For 30 nervous minutes Sunday afternoon, a 13-year-old Rhinecliff girl was trapped on a rocky ledge several hundred feet above the Penn Central Railroad tracks on the east side of the Hudson River. It took some rope and the steels nerves of two rescue workers to bring her to safety.

Rhinebeck state police said 13-year-old Lori Page of Rhinecliff was hiking at the top of the sheer cliff at about 2:30 p.m. Sunday when she slipped and fell. She managed to grab an outcropping of rock some ten feet from the top. She clung to that ledge for half-an-hour while rescue attempts were organized.

Two members of the Rhinecliff Rescue Squad, Harry Heywood and Thomas Flynn, used a heavy rope to lower themselves to the ledge. They attached a harness to the teenager and lifted her to safety.

Police reported the girl wasn't injured during her ordeal.

Municipalities To Halt Creek Pollution

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dutchess County and five of its municipalities have agreed to take action by Oct. 15 to halt the pollution of Wappinger Creek. The federal government filed a pollution complaint earlier this month against the county and the board of governors of the joint landfill project. The agreement prohibits the construction of a drainage and diversion ditch system to direct water from a county dump known as the Dutchess County Airport Landfill. Joe's Injury Spoils Jets' Win

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The victory was sweet but Coach Weeb Ewbank was more concerned about the latest in a string of injuries to quarterback Joe Namath in the New York Jets' 34-10 win over the Colts Sunday.

Namath, back to pass, was blasted by linebacker Stan White 10 minutes into the first quarter. He felt hard to the dry turf, his right shoulder hitting first. The resulting shoulder separation could sideline Namath for the season. "It was terrible," said Ewbank. "The play Namath was hurt on was the blitz inside. We should have picked it up." Ewbank refused to name the lineman who missed his block on the play but said "he was experienced."

Reserve quarterback Al Woodall and the Jets' defense came to the rescue after the Colts built up a 10-3 halftime lead on George Hunt's field goal and a 23-yard scoring pass from rookie Bert Jones to Glenn Doughty.

Woodall was 17-for-21 in the air for 147 yards, tossing TD passes to Eddie Bell in the third quarter and Emerson Boozer to start the fourth period.

"Al's done well all during pre-season," Ewbank said. "We think he can throw it. We thought we were too conservative in the first set of downs." The Jets' defense intercepted eight passes for a club one-game record. Four interceptions meant Jones' ouster from the game and in came Baltimore's No. 2 signal-caller, Marty Domres.

"I thought I'd give Marty a chance to see what he could do with it," said Colts coach Howard Schnellenberger. "It looked like Jones was forcing the ball, trying to throw it into small cracks. We played pretty well with them up to the middle of the third quarter."

And the Jets had a fourth quarter field day. Domres was 5-for-12 passing with four more passes falling into New York hands. Linebacker Ralph Baker scored from the 23 on a Domres pickoff intended for Cotton Speyrer with 5:12 left. Reserve cornerback Richie Sowell grabbed a pass meant for Ray Chester at the 30 and ran in for six points with his second interception with 3:42 remaining.

With less than a minute left in the game Sowell grabbed the ball off the hands of Lydell Mitchell for interception No. 3 and more humiliation for the Colts quarterbacks.

Both Jones and Domres said after the game they learned "when not to throw the ball."

For Woodall, the win over the Colts came after two seasons of little regular playing time, Namath being healthy last year.

"It's not my best game but I threw the ball more," Woodall said of his performance. He was forced to run late in the second quarter, picking up 11 yards but was blasted out of bounds by linebacker Mike Curtis.

"I was pretty groggy there but they couldn't take me out," Woodall said. "After that play they told me not to run."

Woodall seemed content with his position behind Namath when the flashy first-stringer is healthy and starting when Namath is sidelined.

"Joe's older than I am, he's eventually going to quit," he said.

HURT AGAIN — Broadway Joe Namath watches action from the sidelines with his arm in a sling after he separated his right shoulder in first quarter of Sunday's game at Baltimore. Namath will be out at least six to eight weeks, and could miss the rest of the season. Joe's Jets beat Baltimore, 34-10. (UPI)

Namath Might be Out for Season

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath's status for the 1973 National Football League season will be determined today by Dr. James A. Nicholas.

Namath, the New York Jets' glamour quarterback, suffered a separated right shoulder Sunday in the first quarter of a 34-10 victory over the Baltimore Colts. X-rays were taken Sunday night at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York to determine if surgery will be necessary.

If the separation is severe enough that surgery is required, Namath will miss the entire season. If surgery is not required, he is expected to be out six to eight weeks.

The injury occurred on a third down play with the Jets driving deep in Baltimore territory. Stan White, the Colts' tight end, blitzed up the middle and was never touched as he roared into Namath, who was looking downfield for a pass receiver. Namath crashed heavily to the turf, lay there for almost 10 seconds motionless, and then left the field under his own power holding his right arm.

Al Woodall, his replacement, completed 17-of-21 passes for 147 yards and two touchdowns. "I saw him coming but it was too late then," Namath explained. "I didn't hurt it when he hit me. I hurt it when I hit the ground. I knew right away it was hurt. It was really stinging me. I'm sad about being hurt but the big thing is we came back big and won the game. Al did a terrific job in there and he'll continue to do a great job. He's developed into an excellent quarterback."

Namath, who has been riddled with injuries the past few seasons ranging from his knee to his hand, took the new injury as well as could be expected.

"I've been in the pros nine years and you have to expect injuries," he said. "They're part of the game. You just have to be rational about it. You have to get yourself better so you can play again. That's all there is to it."

Nicholas, who has performed all Namath's surgery as a pro, said he would know today whether an operation is necessary.

"I would like to avoid an operation if at all possible," he said. "We'll have to see how the shoulder responds overnight. The degree of the separation is the determining factor. If we can treat it externally, fine. If not, then we'll have to operate."

"Craig Morton (Dallas quarterback) had a similar injury a few years back and although he played with it, he was ineffective... and he needed surgery after the season, anyway."

Namath has had four knee operations in his nine-year career. He had cartilage removed in his right knee in 1965, tendon removal in 1966, tendon repair in 1968 and ligament and cartilage repair after an injury in 1971. The broken bone in his right hand did not need surgery but put him out for the last 10 games of the 1970 season.

Giants, Eagles: Fit to be Tied

NEW YORK (UPI)—...19...18...17...16...15...14...13...

That's the way the scoreboard clock was ticking off the final seconds of the last football game the New York Giants are scheduled to play at Yankee Stadium when the Giant field goal team dashed onto the field Sunday.

...12...11...10...9...8...7...6...5...4...3...2...1... The Giants were trailing an underdog Philadelphia Eagle team 23-20 and they had a fourth down on the Eagle six with all their timeouts elapsed as they attempted to beat the clock for a game-tying field goal.

"I was yelling set, set but Greg (Larson) couldn't hear me," said holder Tom Blanchard.

...7...6...5...4...3...2...1... "When it got down to four seconds, I really got scared," said kicker Pete Gogolak.

...3...2...1... "I saw Blanchard and his eyes were blinking and his hands were flapping so I kicked the ball," said center Greg Larson. "I had been over the ball with 14 seconds left but the referee wouldn't get out of the way."

...1... Larson kicked the ball just as Gogolak booted a 14-yarder as the gun sounded to give the Giants a 23-23 deadlock Sunday.

It was a tie that left both clubs unhappy. The Giants were unhappy because they had failed to win even though they were heavily favored and had beaten the Eagles 42-21 three weeks ago in an exhibition game.

The Eagles were unhappy because they let an upset victory slip out of their grasp. "We can't accept moral victories," said Eagle Coach Mike McCormack. "We're trying to build a program. If we'd gone down the field to tie them I might have felt a little better but they tied us." The Eagles took the lead with 1:54 left on Roman Gabriel's 16-yard TD pass to Harold Carmichael.

Giant Coach Alex Webster barked, "we made idiotic mental mistakes. We sputtered on both offense and defense. It was due to come but you hate to see it happen against a team you should beat."

Giant running back Ron Johnson said, "we were out-hustled."

Both teams also complained about officials' calls. McCormack didn't think the Giants were set for one second before the ball was hiked for the final field goal.

"I questioned it but the referee said they were set and I had no recourse,"

The Giants thought they were robbed of a touchdown in the final period when Bob Grim appeared to catch a Norm

Snead pass in the end zone before Al Nelson knocked it out of his arms.

"I asked the referee why he started to put his arms up in the TD sign if he didn't catch it," asked Snead. Grim said, "I caught it and then Nelson stripped it away."

Gabriel, in his second game as an Eagle, wound up completing 14-of-28 passes for 227 yards while Snead completed 19-of-35 for 272. Johnson gained 112 yards in 30 carries and the Eagles' Tom Sullivan picked up 100 yards in 18 carries.

The Giants will now play their home games in New Haven for the next two years while Yankee Stadium is being renovated. In 1975, they're scheduled to move into a new stadium in the Jersey Meadowlands but it's unlikely to be completed by then. If it isn't the Giants will play in 1975 at Yale and possibly could return to renovated Yankee Stadium in 1976.

Raiders Shatter Dolphins' Image

"We wanted to play them last year and stop the streak but we didn't get the chance. But now we're the team that did it."

That was Oakland Coach John Madden, whose Raiders finally shattered Miami's slowly tarnishing image of invincibility Sunday.

They didn't exactly overpower the Super Bowl champion Dolphins. In fact, the only thing that got them on the scoreboard all day was a 46-year-old foot belonging to George Blanda. But it got them there four times.

And that got the Raiders a 12-7 victory over Miami, halting the Dolphins' regular-season and playoff winning streak at 18 games.

So, until some other "dynasty" comes along, the Dolphins and the Chicago Bears of 1933-4 and 1941-2 will share that National Football League record.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals stunned Washington 34-27; the New York Jets blitzed Baltimore 34-10 but suffered a greater loss when Joe Namath suffered a shoulder separation; the San Diego Chargers walloped Buffalo 34-7; the Pittsburgh Steelers bombed Cleveland 33-6; the Los Angeles Rams smothered Atlanta 31-0; the Cincinnati Bengals topped Houston 24-10; the Kansas City Chiefs nipped New England 10-7; the Minnesota Vikings turned back Chicago 22-13; the San Francisco 49ers outlasted Denver 36-34; the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles tied 23-23 and the Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers played to a 13-13 draw. The Dallas Cowboys host the New Orleans Saints tonight.

Cards 34, Redskins 27
Donny Anderson's three touchdowns and Don Shy's 97-yard kickoff return sparked St. Louis. "He's a steady old pro, he comes through in clutch situations," Cards Coach Don Coryell said of Anderson.

Chargers 34, Bills 7
So were the Chargers. "We kept him inside and let our pursuit do the rest," Deacon Jones after he and his San Diego teammates "limited" Buffalo's O.J. Simpson to 103 yards, far below his record 250 of a week ago.

While the Chargers were shutting down the brunt of the Bills' offense, Johnny Unitas was cranking up the Chargers' attack, passing for touchdowns of 26 yards to Gary Garrison and 12 yards to James Thaxton. Unitas finished needing just two more yards to reach 40,000. "It's just another number," he shrugged.

Steelers 33, Browns 6
The Steelers did what comes naturally. It was Cleveland's fourth loss in four games at Three Rivers Stadium, where they have yet to score a touchdown.

Rams 31, Falcons 0
"It was a perfect game," said Los Angeles Coach Chuck Knox, whose Rams scored their first shutout at home since moving to Los Angeles 27 years ago. John Hadl tossed two touchdowns for them while the defense limited the Falcons—New Orleans 62-7 a week ago—to a measly two first downs.

Bengals 24, Oilers 10
Cincinnati, recovering from the shock of 103-yard opening kickoff return by Bob Gresham, resorted to basic football to beat the Oilers. "We came out with straight football in the second half and found we could run on Houston," Bengals Coach Paul Brown said. Essex Johnson and Bobby Clark ran for Cincinnati touchdowns.

Chiefs 10, Patriots 7
"It was a must game, one we had to win," Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said after the Chiefs' squeaker against the error-plagued, underdog Patriots.

Kansas City won because Willie Ellison plunged for a touchdown and Jan Stenerud kicked a 33-yard field goal. And New England lost because all they could get was a last-gasp Sam Cunningham touchdown dive.

Vikings 22, Bears 13
The Vikings beat the Bears because, as Minnesota Coach Bud Grant put it: "They made the errors and we didn't. We got the big runs against them."

49ers 36, Broncos 34
Bruce Gossett kicked five field goals, and the last one, a 39-yarder into the teeth of a strong wind with 26 seconds to play, carried the 49ers past the Broncos.

Packers 13, Lions 13
Jim Del Gaizo, sidelined with cracked ribs since Sept. 1, replaced first-stringer Scott Hunter with 1:53 to play and starting from Green Bay's 27, led a march capped by Chester Marcol's 24-yard field goal with 19 seconds left that lifted the Packers into their tie with the Lions.

STREAK BREAKER — Gray haired George Blanda boots a 46-yard field goal out of hold of Kenny Stabler in second quarter of Sunday's game against World Champion Miami Dolphins. Oakland used a methodical running attack and Blanda's kicking to stun Miami, 12-7, and snap the Dolphins' consecutive game win streak at 18. Blanda's boots were from the 12, 46, 19 and 10. (UPI)

Landry After 100th Triumph

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys try to give Coach Tom Landry a milestone 100th National Football League victory tonight in a nationally televised match with the lowly New Orleans Saints who limp into Texas Stadium after absorbing the worst defeat in their brief history.

Landry has a 99-76-6 record in his 13 years as the only coach Dallas has ever had. Landry and the Cowboys stumbled through a 0-11-1 season in 1960. However, since 1966, Dallas has 75 victories—more than any other NFL team during that period.

Nine other coaches have posted 100 or more victories in the NFL. Landry has one distinction no other coach owns—he has taken Dallas to seven consecutive NFL playoffs. Dallas has won six division titles, two NFC conference crowns, and one NFL title in Super Bowl VI.

New Orleans was bombed 62-7 last week by Atlanta and should be in a fighting mood after a roasting by the fans and new Coach John North, who said "When you play this bad the Little Sisters of the Poor could beat you."

Saints' quarterback Archie Manning suffered five interceptions in his poorest performance as a professional.

North went on television in New Orleans Monday to apologize for the humiliation.

Landry said the Saints will provide a problem for the Cowboys, who opened the season with a 20-17 victory over Chicago.

"It's difficult to get a team up for another team coming off the kind of defeat the Saints suffered," Landry said.

Big City Is Going Crazy Over Amazin' Mets

FORCED — Mets' Don Hahn is forced out on slide into second as Cards' shortstop Mike Tyson stretches to keep foot on bag during seventh inning of their game Sunday. Ump is Ed Sudol. Mets stayed in first place in the National League East by one half game over Pittsburgh. (UPI)

By United Press International
Watching the New York Mets' relentless drive toward the National League's Eastern Division title recalls words written 2,000 years ago.

"There were many brave men before Agamemnon," wrote Latin poet Horace. "But none had a poet to sing their praises."

But this is 20 centuries later and the city of New York is singing the praises of Mets like Wayne Garrett, Tug McGraw and Harry Parker. The Mets' drive to first place in the NL East has turned the Big City into a mad factory, just like 1969, and the question no longer is whether the Mets will win the division title but how many games it will take them to beat the American League representative in the World Series.

Crazy? Loony? Provincial? Sure, but that's the way it is as the Mets appear to be building up the same irresistible tidal wave that carried them to their "miracle victory" in the 1969 Series.

Garrett, McGraw and Parker played key roles Sunday as the Mets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 and went into the final week of the season with a half-game lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates gained a half game on the Mets —does it matter when New York has a 10th man watching over it up there in the sky?—when they swept the Montreal Expos, 6-3 and 7-4.

Garrett, batting .394 in September, hit a two-run, tie-breaking triple in the seventh inning. Parker pitched one-hit ball in middle inning relief to pick up his eighth victory against three losses. And then McGraw came on to shut out the Cardinals for the last three innings for his 23rd save. McGraw, ineffective in the early season going, has recorded four victories and 10 saves in his last 14 appearances, a perfect performance.

The Los Angeles Dodgers postponed the Cincinnati Reds' Western Division clinching with a 6-4 victory over them, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 9-7, the Atlanta Braves downed the Houston Astros 10-2, and the San Diego Padres outscored the San Francisco Giants 11-9, in other NL games.

Are the Mets on a trip of their own? Listen to these quotes: "When we scored five runs in the ninth inning to beat the Pirates in Pittsburgh last week we felt we're just bound to win," said Garrett.

"It's like you fall in a stream and it carries you along...it's like sticking your finger in a socket and getting a shock," said McGraw.

"It's just too much...we can't lose," said Parker.

Garrett delivered his game-winning two out in the sixth when he tripled after a walk and a single by Ken Boswell. Parker held the Cardinals to one single in four innings and then McGraw closed it out before a sellout crowd of 51,926 at Shea Stadium.

hit a three-run homer to win the first game for the Pirates and rookie Richie Zisk slammed a grand slammer in a six-run rally in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the pitcher-poor Pirates hung in there. Stargell's 87th extra-base hit of the season in the first game set a new club record. Relief stars Ramon Hernandez and Dave Giusti closed out the games for the Pirates.

UCAL Cross Country Changes Add to Excitement

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON Cross Country races in the Ulster County Athletic League will begin Tuesday, and this year a few changes have been added which should make the competition even more exciting.

For one, a new school, Fallsburgh, has been added to the field. Secondly, as a result of this addition, the league has been aligned into two separate divisions. Thirdly, there will be two all-league meets.

Defending champion Red Hook heads up the A Division along with Coleman, Marlboro, Highland, Ellenville and Fallsburgh. In the B Division are Onteora, New Paltz, Rondout, Walkkill, Pine Bush and Liberty. The teams will run five dual meets within the respective divisions, then all 12 schools will run together twice to decide the new champion.

The setup is unique in the state, and although it may seem complex, the UCAL will benefit from it in several areas. The reduction in the number of dual meets will eliminate much of the long-distance traveling schools have previously had to do in this geographically large league. Also, the individual teams are now free to compete in a wider variety of events hopefully against better competition elsewhere.

It will also have the effect of keeping just about every team in the fight until the grand finale. And that pair of league meets at the end is also enhanced since one is on the fairly flat New Paltz University course and the other is over the hilly college camp track in Shokan.

As the league shapes up, the A Division looks stronger. Red Hook, Coleman and Marlboro have dominated the sport in recent years, and they all figure to be in it again.

Phil Hand, the Raiders' all-time great, is gone now, but coach Jim Caldwell has a solid group of veterans left to defend the title. Dave Bier, Dave Benkart, Al Bristol and Kevin Kilmer all run well, and they don't leave much space between themselves.

Red Hook also picked up a

Pine Plains transfer, Bob Arsenault, JV graduates Rich Harrington, Mike Mahoney and Henry Thompson give the Raiders plenty of depth.

Can Red Hook do it again? "This is a stronger team," answered Caldwell. Freshman sensation Mark Gravino has Caldwell thinking seriously about another championship. "He's unbelievable," said the coach. "He could be number one."

But Coleman thinks otherwise, and it's hard to dispute the Statesman position. New coach Joe Keller, marathon runner himself, has probably the top personnel in the league.

Kevin Post could win it all this year. If anyone beats him it could be Jim Rioux. The rest of a tight group includes Tom Nee, Eric Schroeder, Jim Price, John Wallace, Bob Bysecofer and John Masterson. They've already won the Eldred Invitational, and that should be just the start.

Marlboro will not make it easy for anybody, however. Veterans Jim Erceg, Ken Hayes, Ed Cosman and Steve Adam-shick are all proven runners, soph Tom Angst and junior Al Neilson have family traditions to uphold, and senior Jerry Gervais can get points.

Though the Ducks may be thin in the rear ranks, coach Mike Smith thinks, "We have a good shot at it."

Highland is on the upswing and with the entire '72 squad back could cause some surprises. Joe Monks is the leader of the Big Blue pack with Wayne Delta and Leo MacLeod and other top veterans, Dan Gomez, Tony Mackin, Paul Davison, Bruce Constantino, Matt Murphy, Tony Valli and Bob Jonso staff the biggest Highland roster yet.

"We have more experience and depth," said an optimistic Mike Yablonski, "and we don't have to run freshmen now. We definitely hope to improve. I expect a winning season."

Injuries, lack of numbers and a delayed practice schedule will keep Ellenville out of the upper echelons again this season. Tom McKnight, the latest in a line of Ellie coaches, knows his work is cut out.

"We're trying to generate enthusiasm," he said. "We won't be too spectacular, initially at least."

Veterans Bill Decker and Tony Czerkas are temporarily out with injuries. Harris Marcus and Brett Krieger are the remaining experienced runners.

Hal Blaustein leads a group of nine unknowns into the fray.

Fallsburgh is a stranger to most of the UCAL, but coach Martin Van Vleet said this is his first year. "We don't have any outstanding runners. We work hard, but we don't have great talent. We have run Ellenville and Liberty, and we hold our own against them."

Keith Mitz, Moses and Larry Robinson, Arthur Schwartz and frosh Jim Dedinsky are the fastest. They had a 6-8 record last year and would be happy to do it again.

The B Division picture is not as overwhelming. Pine Bush is hungry, but Onteora, and New Paltz are traditional powers. No matter — the winner here will go into the league meets with a record as good as (and quite possibly better than) the winner of the A Division.

Dan Brown is confident because he has a "nice group" of veterans back. All within 35 seconds of each other are Gary Shouten, Jim Raymond, Brian Shurter, John McElroy and Greg Allen.

"We're not overpowering," said Brown, "but we should be in the top three overall."

A definite B Division threat is New Paltz, however. John Laffan, Wayne Kreuscher, Jim Clough and Jack Corey along with potentially brilliant Lorenzo Simms make the Huges' chances look pretty good. Lack of depth could be the problem.

Dick James said, "Our first five will have to work for us to win."

To turn a mediocre year into a big one, Paltz will have to get results from newcomers Rich Skillman, Charlie Didier, transfer Lee Straus and Bill Miller. Onteora lost manpower to the new OCS soccer team, but Bernie Stahl feels enough is left to "at least break even."

Seniors Robin Hunter, Mark Lichers and Carl Guendel are all running well, and number one man Mark Woodward is back for another try.

The Indians have enough depth to come up with some surprises. Prospects are Rich Gross, Bryn Gabriel, Rich Bilsback and AFS student Tom Lunder from Yugoslavia. Onteora was 6-5 last year, its fourth straight winning season.

Walkill returns seven runners, but only two new faces fill up the team. Alice Crawford, Don Decker, Steve Lucy, Ramon Rios, Gary Rower, Gil Toro and Ed Vargas are experienced. Kevin Miller and Rico Musco hope to crack the lineup.

With only one man lost to graduation, Rondout plans an improvement on last year's 7-7 slate. The Lopiano's, Fred and John, Mickey Sparling, Jack Walsh, Robert Young, Craig Eldridge and Jeff Wolfel could compose the darkhorse of the league.

Newcomers to watch at RVC are Bruce Davenport, Gordon Gipson and John Wolfel.

Steve Sacks, Mike Killian and Mark Berry head up Liberty's entry, but cross country has fallen on hard times in Redskin land. Hersey Buzmore went to the states last year, but he decided not to run this time.

Coach Ron Shultz will try to form a group from Ray Bridges, Rad Yaun and whoever else he can get.

Marist Scores, Krempel Fourth

BRONX Marist College opened its cross country season Saturday with a pair of wins, 15-50 over Jersey City State, and 16-47 over New York Tech.

Bill Krempel, formerly of Kingston High School, was fourth in a time of 28:57. The race was held at Van Cortland Park.

Greenberg Honored

MONTICELLO Leon Greenberg, president of Monticello Raceway, was presented with the second annual Chic Feldman Humanitarian Award at the 15th annual awards banquet of the Monticello-Goshen Chapter of the United States Harness Writers Association at Kutsher's Country Club. A record crowd of 900 was present.

Named in honor of the late Chic Feldman, sports editor of the Scranton Tribune for many years, the award was presented to Greenberg for his "service to his fellow man and the community, in addition to his untiring devotion to making the Mighty M the finest track in America."

Greenberg also received awards from several civic groups, among them the Association for Retarded Children, the Community General Hospital of Sullivan County, Monticello Youth Group, Monticello Raceway's Horsemen's Association and St. Alberts Junior Seminary of Middletown.

Horsemen awards were presented to the best horses of each age division at Monticello as follows:

Two-year-olds — Lullwater Song (trot) Popping Thru and Laker (pacers).

Three-year-olds — Gerhard Vee (trot) and Tara Row Oil (pacer). Aged Horses — Command Performer N. (pacer) and Bob Collins (trot). A special achievement award was given to Adios Bob for recording the first sub-two minute victory at the track in four years when he scored in 1:59.4 and to Wico Dares for being the most improved horse on the grounds.

Two special drive achievement awards were also given and they went to Ralph Baldwin and Catello Manzi. Baldwin received a national honor from the harness writers for his victory with the Arden Homestead Stables Flirt in the $144,000 Hambletonian Stake. Catello was lauded for winning six races on Tuesday, Aug. 21, at the Mighty M, setting a new track standard and becoming only the fifth driver in American history to win that many races on a single guest of honor.

Except for Texas, Things Were Normal for Top Ten

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

When things get a little chilly come winter there may be some folks in Texas and Indiana longing for Miami, but Darrell Royal and Alex Agase probably won't be among them.

Miami—both the Florida and Ohio versions—is a dirty word these days in Austin, home of the University of Texas' perennial Southwest Conference champs, and in Lafayette, Ind., where Purdue University sits in all its Big Ten splendor.

The reason for all the distaste is a pair of upsets over the past weekend. The University of Miami of Coral Gables, Fla., upended the sixth-ranked Texas Longhorns 20-15 while Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, a member of the Big Ten, snuffed Purdue 24-19.

It marked the second year in a row Purdue has lost to a MAC team. Bowling Green took the Boilermakers 20-17 last season and they haven't stopped laughing yet in the South-eastern Conference and points west.

Except for Texas, things remained fairly normal elsewhere in college football's Top Ten.

Top-ranked Southern California clipped Georgia Tech 23-6 and runnerup Nebraska used three fourth-quarter touchdowns to overtake 14th-ranked North Carolina State 31-14.

Ohio State, ranked third, was idle—so was No. 9 Oklahoma—while fifth-ranked Michigan swamped Stanford 47-10. No. 7 Penn State trimmed Navy 39-0, eighth-ranked Notre Dame belted Northwestern 44-0 and No. 10 Tennessee downed Army 37-18.

Miami of Florida used three touchdowns by Woody Thompson to offset a 153-yard, two-touchdown performance by the losers' Roosevelt Leaks.

It was a smashing debut for Miami's Pete Elliott, out of coaching since the mid-1960s. Miami was thought to have a suicide schedule which also includes the likes of Alabama, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Florida and Houston.

Miami of Ohio's fullback Chuck Varner, who earlier caught two touchdowns from Steve Sanna, belted three yards for the winning touchdown against Purdue with 1:53 left in the game. That climaxed a comeback that started with Purdue on top 19-10 in the final period.

Southern Cal broke in front of Georgia Tech on Lynn Swann's 48-yard punt return and his touchdown catch, the first of Pat Haden's two scoring passes—and kept the Yellow Jackets off the scoreboard except for a pair of 40-yard field goals by Cam Bonifay.

Nebraska withstood two scoring jaunts by North Carolina State's Stan Fritts and rallied in the final period on short runs by Dave Humm and Tony Davis and Humm's eight-yard pass to Brent Longwell.

Willie Shelby's 100-yard run with the second-half kickoff started Alabama back from a 14-0 deficit against fired-up Kentucky. Shelby added a two-yard run in the final quarter after a touchdown by Wilbur Jackson tied the score and one by Gary Rutledge put Alabama in front.

Michigan got two touchdowns apiece from Ed Shuttlesworth and Gil Chapman and booming field goals of 50 and 51 yards by Mike Lantry in whipping Stanford.

Penn State capitalized on a fumble and two short punts for three second-period touchdowns—one by John Cappelletti, who gained 104 yards—and trounced Navy.

Notre Dame's Tom Clements led the Irish over Northwestern with a pair of scoring passes and then learned his 13-year-old sister had died a week after being struck by a car.

Tennessee withstood a record-setting aerial barrage to defeat stubborn Army. The Cadets' Kingsley Pink passed for 326 yards while Barry Armstrong grabbed eight for 164 yards and returned seven kick-offs for 190.

'Cat' Never Caught Hubie at Endicott

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) —

"This cat's gonna get me," Hubert Green thought as he went into the last half of his final round in the $100,000 B.C. Open golf championship.

But that "cat"—Dwight Nevil—did not, despite his spurge of birdies Sunday.

"When I birdied the 11th, I knew I was in good shape," said Green, winner of $20,000 to become the tenth pro golfer to top the $100,000 earnings mark this year.

Green, who went into the final round of the 72-hole tournament 14 under par and with a five-stroke lead, played the last 18 holes in 67 and finished with 266, 18 under regulation.

He topped Nevil in with 66 and 272 by six strokes.

Next came Bob E. Smith (70) and Larry Ziegler (67) with 276s on the par-71, 6,730-yard En-Joie Golf Club course.

Green opened his day with seven straight pars, but denied it was conservative golf.

"I didn't really play cautious, but neither did I break a leg trying to win," he said. "I know I can win...my goal is to win it every time I tee up."

Green admitted that when Nevil birdied the 10th, his sixth in the first 12 holes, he began to worry a bit. Green birdied the 11th and 12th and fretted no more.

Nevil posted seven birdies in all, but offset two of them with a pair of bogeys. He collected $11,400.

Kathy Whitworth Takes Third Straight Victory

By BILL MCFARLAND

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) —

Kathy Whitworth, greatest money winner in the history of the Ladies' Professional Golf Association, goes after her fourth victory in a row this week following her two-stroke triumph Sunday in the Portland Classic.

Miss Whitworth, who has won $469,714.75 since joining the tour 13 years ago, turned back a temporary challenge from spunky Debbie Austin, who has never won an LPGA event, with a two-under-par 144 in the rain-abbreviated 36-hole tournament.

"I really didn't win it," she said. "Nobody came up and grabbed it, although Debbie made a run at it for a while there."

Playing with Miss Austin and Carole Jo Skala, who both tied for third, Miss Whitworth said she faltered at the 10th and 11th holes with bogeys and saw her lead drop from three strokes over Miss Austin to just one, because Debbie had birdied the 10th hole. However, the cheerful Oneida, N.Y., miss had troubles of her own at 14 and 15 with bogeys to end her charge. Sandra Palmer, a three-tournament winner this year, had the day's top round of two under 71 on the Portland Golf Club layout, and she wound up at even par to take second money. The final round was played in a steady rain.

"I'll be in Sacramento and I'll play the rest of the tourneys on the tour this year," said Miss Whitworth. Asked about a fourth straight win, she noted that she, along with another LPGA great—Mickey Wright—and Shirley Englehorn hold the record for four straight tournament wins.

Top prize money here of $4,500 boosted Miss Whitworth's 1973 total to $64,260 and she displaced Judy Rankin who dropped to second with winnings now totaling $61,696.66. Miss Whitworth said she made some key putts in her final round and her hot streak came on the front nine where she birdied three of the first five holes she played that gave her a three-stroke lead at four under at the turn.

Bob Allison Edges Petty In Wilkes 400 Thriller

By BLOYS BRITT

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) —

"Auto racing is a thinking man's game," says Bobby Allison. "Not only does the driver have to keep his wits, but his crew also must stay on the ball."

Allison's crew was thinking ahead during the late stages of Sunday's Wilkes 400 stock car race, and their bit of strategy paid off in victory for the 1972 national driver of the year.

He beat arch-rival Richard Petty by 1.5 seconds in a brilliant late race duel, and he did it by making up a full lap deficit around the tough five-eighths mile North Wilkesboro Speedway.

"The track was getting so oily and greasy after the half way point that I couldn't drive anywhere without slipping," the 36-year-old Allison said. "I knew Petty was having the same problem."

Petty made his final pit stop well ahead of Allison and the Alabama driver said he noted in passing that Petty took on right side tires only.

"When I made my final stop later, we decided to replace all four tires," Allison said. "We knew we would lose some time to Petty, but we figured we'd be able to make it up by having better traction on the asphalt surface."

The strategy paid off. Allison was slightly more than a lap behind his rival when he got back on the course. It took him less than four times around to get back into the same lap, and the chase was on.

In other races Sunday, Peter Revson won the Grand Prix of Canada at Mosport, Ont., while driving for the British McLaren racing team.

At Trenton, N.J., Gordon Johncock fended off Bobby Unser in the closing laps to win the Trenton 200 for Indianapolis-type cars.

Year of the Defense in UCAL

By STEVE KANE

KINGSTON

The shutouts continued Saturday with Highland, Walkkill and Red Hook each racking up Ulster County Athletic League football wins by blanking their opponents. Marlboro and Liberty struggled to the season's first tie, meanwhile, and New Paltz and Rondout were rained out.

The latter contest was rescheduled for this afternoon at the Rondout Valley field.

It could be a defensive year. Nine UCAL games have been played so far, and in all but one (the tie), one team has failed to score. Highland's

Ellenville's Steve Ten-

nenbaum, who missed the game due to an injury suffered in the Liberty game the week before, is expected to be ready for the Blue Devils' next contest. That should help receiver Ray Younger who played a magnificent game despite heavy coverage by the Big Blue.

Wallkill rolled into a share of first by trouncing OCS, 28-0. The Panthers flattened out offensively in the second half, but they still gave Indian QB Jim Van Steenberg a merciless beating. Coach Jerry Trezza has to hope it wasn't too early for him to take a breather.

Red Hook got back on target down and out yet, that was only the first touchdown they have allowed, and they had to learn some lessons from the defeat.

Some Saturday the Ducks or Marlboro will break loose, but it just won't be to be against Liberty. The Indians, on the other hand, may never break loose at all. The only sure thing is that neither of these teams has found its stride yet, but with seven games left to play, both are bound to break into the win column.

Pine Bush, however, is not the win column.

Rundle Scores Four TDs

Titans and Saturns Junior Winners

KINGSTON

Tom Rundle galloped to four touchdowns — two on punt returns — as the Titans overwhelmed Agenas, 42-0 for their second straight win in the Exchange Club Junior Football League.

In the other Friday game, Saturns scored nine points in the fourth quarter to stop Mercurys, 23-12 and even their record at 1 and 1. The Sunday contests were cancelled because of wet grounds.

Rundle exploded for runs of 30 and 35 yards and returned punts 35 and 40 yards for Titan scores. John Davis scored on a 30-yard reverse play and Harry Grubaugh went 18 yards for another Titans score in the second quarter. The Titans also picked up a fourth quarter safety.

Three different players figured in the three touchdowns and safety Saturns used to win over Mercury. Russ Shultis raced 60 yards in the first quarter. Bill Reynolds rolled over from the 11 in the second quarter and Terry McWeeney accounted for the winning margin with a 7-yard pass interception. Saturns converted all three extra point tries and tackled Joe Kelderhouse in his own end zone for additional icing on the cake in the fourth quarter.

to the idea that someone from Indiana would develop a better convention than we had. I am probably the first Easterner to start using it and I know I am the first oldtime expert to admit the existence of Easley Blackwood and his excellent convention.

Jim: "Knowing you, I also assume that you were the first man to start modifying it."

Oswald: "It may be so. The first Blackwood modification was to use the five-club response to show no aces or four aces. It seemed that anyone could tell which holding was being shown. It also seemed that when five clubs showed four aces there was room to ask for kings."

Jim: "Today's hand which made up illustrates how this works. South checks for aces and finds that North holds all four. He checks for kings; finds North has the missing one and bids seven no-trump with surety of success."

Oswald: "They might get there without this modification but it was a cinch with it."

Albert Raps President's State of The Union Message

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President's Sept. 10 State of the Union message, which accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of "feeble attempts to disguise the administration's own glaring failures," Albert went on nationwide radio Sunday to answer the House Speaker Carl Albert calls President Nixon's criticisms of Congress "feeble attempts to disguise the administration's own glaring failures."

Albert spoke on behalf of his fellow Democrats as the Senate began a second week of debate on the Pentagon's $21.9 billion procurement request and as the Senate Watergate committee resumed televised hearings.

"The President's message reached Congress two-thirds of the way through the year and contained an embarrassing lack of new initiative," the Oklahoma Democrat said.

He said that of 50 priority bills requested by Nixon, 40 were already in the legislative process when he delivered the message.

"Overall, the President's attacks on Congress were little more than feeble attempts to disguise the administration's own glaring failures," Albert said.

He criticized Nixon for impounding congressionally appropriated funds and for his veto of three bills providing aid to the handicapped, expanded emergency medical services and an increased minimum wage.

Albert said Congress' achievements have included a 5.9 per cent boost in Social Security benefits, a farm bill that encourages production, crime control assistance to local communities, a highway construction bill that also allocated funds for mass transit, extension of 12 major health programs and an Older Americans Act expanding services to the elderly.

Golda Running Again

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir Sunday accepted her party's nomination to run in next month's general elections and predicted a tough fight against demands for concessions in the Middle East dispute.

In London, the Sunday Times said Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has worked a plan for a partial settlement of the Mideast conflict in which Egyptian troops would be allowed to cross the Suez Canal for the first time. A spokesman for Dayan denied he had offered any new plan.

In Beirut, the newspaper Al Nahar quoted King Hussein as saying he was opposed to the return of Palestinian guerrillas to Jordan as a fighting force.

Hussein released 750 political prisoners, mainly Palestinian guerrillas, last week under a sweeping amnesty aimed at reconciling differences with his Arab neighbors.

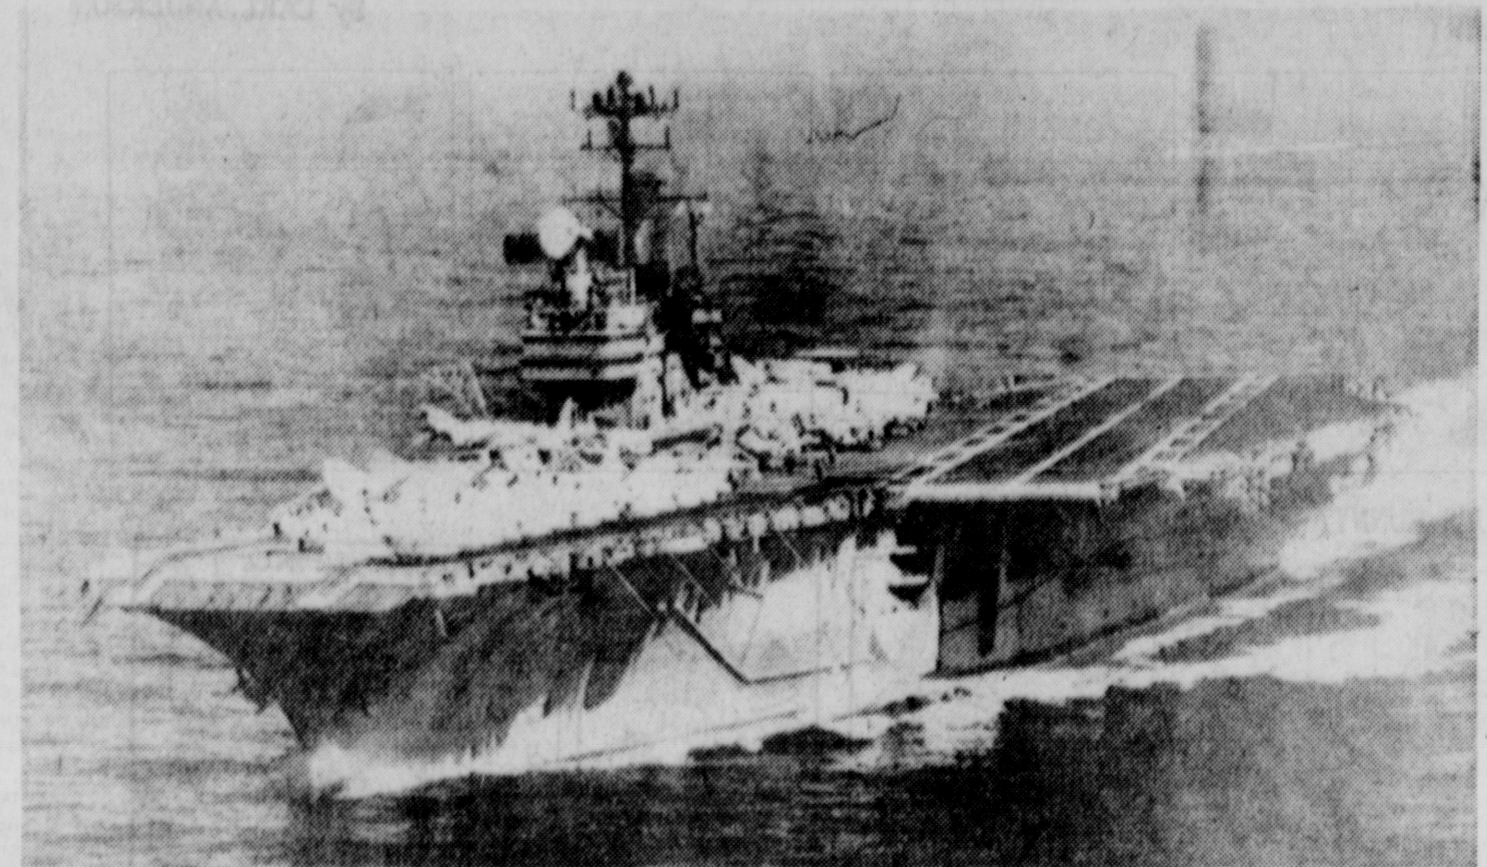

Hussein said he would welcome a guerrilla contribution "to this country's stability and strength" but said he would not let them "jeopardize the accomplishments of this country."

Mrs. Meir, 75, said in Tel Aviv she accepted her ruling Labor party's nomination, but was hesitant to serve out another full four years. Party officials said she accepted the bid because she feared the party would break up over the choice of a successor.

Sunday's London News story said Dayan "is confident of cabinet approval of his peace plan, which would divide the Sinai Peninsula between Israel and Egypt."

The newspaper said Dayan "hopes to sell" the proposal to U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger "by offering to drop Israel's two-year-old refusal to let Egyptian troops cross the Suez Canal in the first stage of a peace agreement."

In Tel Aviv, however, Dayan's spokesman said "the minister hasn't suggested anything new. The story is just a collection of old statements by Dayan with new packaging."

CARRIER FIRE EXTINGUISHED — A fire on the third deck of the giant aircraft carrier USS Saratoga was extinguished early Sunday after burning for nine hours. A spokesman for the Navy's Atlantic Fleet said an investigation began into "all aspects" of the fire, including the possibility of arson. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Hunger, Inflation Topics

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The United States and other Western nations today gave the twin crises of hunger and inflation priority over world monetary reform at the first meeting of their five-day annual session.

The meeting brought together 3,500 delegates from 126 International Monetary Fund (IMF) member nations—the biggest financial session in history. It opened to the beat of African drums, the cry of Kenyan dancers and a warning from Kenyan President Jomo Kenyatta that "the world cannot continue on its present course."

While monetary matters figured prominently in this week's discussions, he said, "a more fundamental crisis facing the international community is the economic and social development of the peoples of the third world. The whole world is watching."

World Bank President Robert S. McNamara announced a record $22 billion budget for 1974-78 to help millions of persons in underdeveloped nations who are "degraded by disease, illiteracy, malnutrition and squalor."

Monetary reform had been expected to take up most of the five-day meeting. But an agreement Sunday by major industrial nations to produce a reform package within 10 months settled that matter and left the forum open for other matters.

As he spoke, towering Masai tribesmen, driven this year from traditional grasslands by the worst drought in African history, grazed their hungry cattle in Nairobi suburbs within view of the 32-story conference center.

Johannes Witteveen, the new IMF managing director, urged the non-Communist nations represented here to work together to halt the onward rush of worldwide inflation, which "could ultimately exact a price that today is only dimly discernible."

"It should be one of our most essential tasks to bring this inflation under control," Witteveen said.

Surprise... Juan Peron Wins

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan Domingo Peron, the aging symbol of strongman rule in South America, piled up more than 60 per cent of the vote Sunday to regain Argentina's presidency 18 years after he was ousted in a military coup.

The 77-year-old Peron, who served as president from 1946 to 1955, scored a landslide victory over a four-man field, winning more than twice the votes of his closest rival.

Peron collected 61.5 per cent of the vote, nearly matching Argentina's greatest presidential victory margin in 1951 when he defeated a five-man field with 62.4 per cent.

Jubilant followers of "El Lider" went on a night-long spree of horn-blowing, chanting and singing to celebrate the charismatic Peron's return to power after nearly two decades of enforced exile.

Thousands of young supporters filled the Plaza de Mayo in front of the Casa Rosada presidential palace in the heart of Buenos Aires chanting, "Peron! Peron! Peron!"

Peron and his wife, Isabel, 40, his vice presidential running mate, will be inaugurated Oct. 12 to fill out the unfinished four-year term of resigned President Hector Campora.

Official results with more than 97 per cent of the polling places counted gave Peron and his Justicial Liberation Front 7,183,390 votes (61.48 per cent). Ricardo Balbin of the Radical Civic Union 2,866,780 (24.53 per cent). Francisco Manrique of a center-right coalition 1,436,446 (12.29 per cent) and Juan Carlos Corral of the Socialist Workers Party 185,921 (1.59 per cent). A fraction of one per cent were void ballots.

Peron's percentage of the vote far surpassed the 49.5 per cent his stand-in, Campora, received March 11 in a nine-man race. Campora resigned last summer to make way for Peron's return to power.

Cambodian Troops Rip Insurgents

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government troops pushed out of Phnom Penh Sunday in a four-pronged drive to smash a ring of insurgent forces around the Cambodian capital.

Field reports said the government counteroffensive touched off day-long battles on four fronts within a dozen miles of Phnom Penh.

The military command, however, said the Communist-led insurgents appeared to be backing away whenever possible to avoid major clashes with the advancing troops.

A command spokesman reported a sharp drop in the number of guerrillas around the capital from a peak of 200,000 in early summer to 5,000 now.

He said the insurgents had apparently pulled men away from Phnom Penh for their unsuccessful attempt earlier this month to capture Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city 50 miles northwest of the capital.

Field reports said Cambodian government forces launched counteroffensives to the south, east, northwest and southwest of the capital in a drive to ease rebel pressure on Phnom Penh.

On one of the fronts, a column of government troops, backed by prop-driven fighter-bombers, battled through heavy guerrilla territory in a drive to reach besieged Cambodia troops at the village of Vihear Suor, 12 miles east of Phnom Penh.

"On the enemy side many were killed and wounded," the high command said. A spokesman said one government soldier was killed and three wounded.

Field reports said a second column of government soldiers killed 17 Khmer Rouge guerrillas in fighting at Kroch Sareum, eight miles southeast of Phnom Penh. At least five government casualties were evacuated to Phnom Penh by boat.

The reports said government soldiers jumped off fiberglass river boats in an amphibious assault against insurgents at Kompong Tuol, 10 miles southwest of the capital.

On the fourth front, government forces used a pincer operation to recapture the village of Ang Talek, 12 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The command said the government troops moved up from the south to link up with forces sweeping from the north at Highway 5 near the village.

Massive Search in Santiago

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Army troops launched a massive, apartment-by-apartment search through a half-mile-square section of downtown Santiago Sunday after a powerful bomb exploded near the U.S. Consulate.

The troops reported arresting 50 persons, silencing an underground radio station and burning hundreds of leftist books and pamphlets in the raid.

The army said most of the persons arrested were foreigners, mainly Bolivians and Dominicans. Scattered rifle shots were heard in the city center Sunday night as army tanks clanked into position in the curfew-cleared downtown area.

The search through the fashionable area near the city center began before dawn shortly after a bomb exploded near the consulate. A U.S. Embassy spokesman said there were no injuries or damages to the building.

Soldiers smashed down doors of luxury apartments in their sweep to wipe out resistance to the junta that overthrew President Salvador Allende's three-year Marxist government Sept. 11.

They reported confiscating every leftwing book they found in the apartments and burning them directly in front of the modern structures. The works included titles by Mao Tse-tung, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and Lenin. Several Cuban flags were also found and burned.

Soldiers were seen carting away a teletype machine and a radio transmitter. Army officers said the transmitter had been broadcasting calls to resist the new regime.

Slight Climb For U. S. Dollar

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar climbed slightly in value on European money markets today as the International Monetary Fund (IMF) considered the future of the exchange-rate system in Nairobi, Kenya.

Most markets reported fractional gains for the U.S. currency as trading opened. Gains in all cases were small.

The dollar opened at 2.4185 West German marks in a "quite active" Frankfurt market, up from Friday's 2.4150 close. It gained .29 per cent in Amsterdam, to 2.5515 guilders, and opened stronger in London at an average rate of $2.4213 to the pound.

In the two-tiered French market, the financial dollar used by tourists opened at 4.34 francs, up from 4.33 Friday, while the official commercial dollar began at 4.245 francs, compared with Friday's closing price of 4.23.
